Russians Weigh U.S. Offer For Joint Moon Hop

President Kennedy's dramatic invitation to the Russians before the U.N. General Assembly Sept. 20 was revived Monday by the chief U.S. delegate, Adlai E. Stevenson. He told the assembly's main political committee he was speaking for President Johnson.

Stevenson suggested the two nations cooperate in preliminary engineering and scientific endeavors related to the massive undertaking, even if they cannot reach an over-all agreement.

There was no immediate reaction from the Russian delegation, but this was not considered significant. Soviet representatives abroad almost never respond to unexpected Western overtures until they get instructions from the Kremlin.

When the joint moon project was first proposed to the Soviets, their response was lukewarm. A month ago Premier Khrushchev said he wasn't against a joint expedition, but he indicated it would have to await further easing of international tensions.

Most Western diplomats at the U.N. feel there must be a great improvement in confidence and trust between the two powers before such a joint venture is feasible.

Foster Parents Lose Girl, 10

LANSING (AP)—Ten-year-old Susan Furlong of Ypsilanti will become Paula Marie Mathers of Detroit under a decision handed down Monday by the State Supreme Court.

The decision meant heartbreak for Mr. and Mrs. Edward Furlong, who for eight years had fought the court efforts of the child's natural mother, Pearl Jan Mathers, Hatmaker, for custody.

The mother placed the child with the Children's Aid Society shortly after birth, and the Furlongs took the child at age 14 months.

But the court majority Monday held the society did not have the natural mother's authorization to put the child up for adoption.

The court ordered the child placed in permanent custody of the natural mother, overturning a 1958 decision by Washtenaw County Judge James Breakey Jr. who affirmed a Probate Court order which had made the child a ward of the court and terminated the mother's parental rights.

The majority said Michigan's Legislature "has affirmed the ancient policy of law and society of keeping children with their natural parents; further, if the child is temporarily removed from such custody to return it to its family.

"The evidence shows a conclusive case for restoring the child to its mother," said the majority opinion, written by Justice Otis M. Smith.

Justice Eugene Black dissented, accusing the majority of "carrying themselves back. . . to the dark ages of English law." Black insisted the child's interests should be paramount.

He said the child is happy and will now have to learn a new identity. Black said the Furlongs "for nearly nine of the child's 10 years, have provided for her the finest of environmental upbringing."

State Interior Gets Snowfall

By The Associated Press

A snow blanket covered much of Michigan today after an overnight snowfall that made roads dangerous and figured in traffic deaths. There also was a snow shoveling death.

Two National Guardsmen, officers at a Nike missile base at Utica, were killed in a two-car, skid-caused collision near Utica Monday night.

Seven inches of new snow fell along Lake Michigan in the southwest Lower Peninsula, the Highway Department reported.

The Upper Peninsula had below zero for a second successive night. Marquette reported 3 below and Covington 2 below.

Killed in the crash near Utica were Capt. Gordon D. Lucas, 32, and Claude V. Peters, 39, chief warrant officer, both of Milford.

Oswald Was Lone Assassin, Report Reveals

WASHINGTON (AP)—An exhaustive FBI report nearly ready for the White House will indicate that Lee Harvey Oswald was the lone and unaided assassin of President Kennedy, government sources said today.

The report will go to President Johnson this week, it was predicted, and Johnson will forward it promptly to the seven-member investigating commission he named Friday.

Members of the commission, headed by Chief Justice Earl Warren, awaited a call from Warren to hold their first meeting and organize the machinery for an inquiry which apparently has no precedent in American history.

Shots Fired Rapidly

Whether the FBI report would be made public before the Warren commission begins its study apparently was undecided.

Various government sources said the FBI report, incorporating the findings of the Secret Service and at least a half-dozen other federal agencies, would indicate that:

—Oswald, without accomplices, fired three shots at Kennedy Nov. 22 from a self - prepared hideaway at a sixth-floor window of the Texas School Book Depository in Dallas as the presidential motorcade passed.

—The first and third shots struck the President. Either could have killed him.

—About 5½ seconds elapsed between the first shot and the last. Despite questions raised by some rifle experts, federal agents consider Oswald's bolt-action rifle could have been aimed and fired that rapidly.

—It has been established that all three shots came from the same direction, behind and slightly to the right of the President's car. This gave the assassin a target moving approximately in the direction of his line of fire, an easier shot than a target moving across it.

Tips Traced Down

—Ballistics studies reportedly substantiate that the same weapon fired all three shots.

Plans Outlined To Trim Costs Of Government

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson outlines for Democratic congressional leaders today a personal economy-in-government program he hopes will boost chances for an early tax cut.

The economy drive, which Johnson has been accelerating day by day, represents the first major policy move to bear the personal stamp of the new President. All other programs endorsed by Johnson during his first 11 days in office originated with the late President Kennedy.

Steps Aimed At Waste

Johnson summoned seven Democratic leaders of the Senate and House to a Cabinet Room conference representing a resumption of Tuesday morning sessions initiated by Kennedy.

The congressional delegation, led by House Speaker John W. McCormack of Massachusetts and Senate Democratic Leader Mike Mansfield of Montana, was the same group that met regularly with Kennedy—with one exception. Added was Sen. Carl Hayden of Arizona, president pro tem of the Senate.

Johnson pressed ahead with his economy drive Monday by taking a series of steps aimed at eliminating waste and overstaffing in federal agencies and holding down the federal budget he will send to Congress next month:

—Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara was ordered to inform military and civilian employes associated with maintenance and contracting programs that their "cost consciousness will be given important consideration" in handing out promotions and good efficiency ratings.

May Lower Budget

—Budget Director Kermit Gordon was told by Johson that the President has personal knowledge of certain federal agencies and foreign posts with too many employes. Johnson ordered an inquiry and arranged another meeting today with Gordon.

—Four chairmen of congressional committees got telephone requests from Johnson that they report any evidence of waste duplication of effort and overstaffing in the military establishment.

Johnson seems determined to hold his first budget, for the 1965 fiscal year that begins July 1, below $100 billion. He may even try to cut below the $98.9 billion figure proposed by Kennedy for fiscal 1964.

SOME SKEPTICAL

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congressional leaders voiced approval today of President Johnson's drive to cut government spending. But there was some skepticism about what the results will be.

Senate Republican Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois applauded Johnson's attempts to get defense contractors and government departments to reduce costs.

But Dirksen said that if Johnson is aiming at generating a climate favorable to Senate passage of the $11-billion tax reduction bill, he will have to follow through with some substantial cuts in the new budget he will send to Congress in January.

"The Republican position remains the same under Johnson as it was under Kennedy," Dirksen said. "We believe there should be substantial reductions in spending accompanying any tax cut."

Lesinski May Be Candidate For Governor

DETROIT (AP) — Lt. Gov. T. John Lesinski says he may shoot for the Democratic nomination for governor in 1964 if he decides to stay in partisan politics—and if the party decides he could win.

Lesinski, a wheelhorse of Democratic politics, a veteran of legislative battles and his party's top elected office-holder at present, says he is "looking into the idea—but not very seriously."

He said, however, he might seek the nomination for governor next year if he thought he could win back the office from the Republicans, and at the same time help President Lyndon Johnson carry Michigan.

The 38-year-old, 300-pound Lesinski previously had indicated he might drop out of party politics, perhaps in favor of a court post, and has not been placed highly on the list of Democratic contenders for the governorship nomination.

A decision to seek the governorship, Lesinski said, would not be a matter of his own wishes but how he could best serve his party and the state.

Another factor, he indicated, might be the fact that he is a Roman Catholic who could provide "balance" to the Democratic ticket in the absence of the assassinated President Kennedy. Johnson is a Protestant.

Lesinski said numerous Democrats have requested that he become a candidate.

"But you have to weigh a thing like that carefully because your friends generally tell you what you want to hear," he added.

He said running for a third two-year term as lieutenant governor is still "an open question" but added that he considers the

Secret Service Agent Cited For Bravery

WASHINGTON (AP) — Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy plans to leave seclusion today to attend a special ceremony citing her Secret Service man for exceptional bravery in the moments after an assassin shot down President Kennedy.

The agent, Clinton J. Hill, 31, is to receive the citation from Secretary of the Treasury Douglas Dillon. The Secret Service is an agency of the Treasury.

In the Dallas motorcade, Hill was riding in the car behind the Kennedys'. When the shots felled Kennedy and wounded Texas Gov. John Connally, Hill sprinted from his car and vaulted into the moving presidential limousine. He threw himself over the President and Mrs. Kennedy to protect them.

Hill was assigned to guard Mrs. Kennedy shortly after the 1960 election. He has traveled with the former First Lady ever since.

Protection Continues

Tight security has been clamped down on the investigation of the assassination and Hill was not permitted to give reporters his account of Kennedy's murder and his part in trying to guard the First Family.

Hill is the second Secret Service agent to receive commendation for actions on that tragic Friday 11 days ago.

Rufus Youngblood, assigned to protect then Vice President Lyndon B. Johnson, was personally commended by the newly sworn President Johnson for throwing himself over Johnson when the shots exploded.

The Secret Service has been asked by President Johnson to continue its protection of Mrs. Kennedy and her two children, Caroline and John. Hill is one of the agents being kept on the assignment.

Labor Lawyer Is Venezuela's New President

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Raul Leoni, soft-spoken former labor lawyer pledged to carry on President Romulo Betancourt's opposition to Fidel Castro, won a smashing victory today in Venezuela's presidential election.

Leoni, Betancourt's candidate, led his nearest rival in the seven-man race by more than 200,000 votes, according to unofficial tabulations based on 70 per cent of the vote.

Defying threats, bullets and bombs from Communist terrorists, 95 per cent of Venezuela's eligible voters balloted Sunday.

Violence subsided in Caracas Monday. There was no sign of the outlawed pro-Castro Armed Forces for National Liberation (FALN), whose campaign of terror had resulted in an almost daily loss of life for months.

In second place in the presidential race was Rafael Caldera, a Social Christian member of Betancourt's government coalition. Unofficial returns today showed: Leoni, 692,206; Caldera, 470,174.

Exhausted from the strenuous campaign, Leoni went to bed in the early evening, confident that he would govern the oil-rich nation for the next five years.

Venezuela's constitution prevented Betancourt from succeeding himself. He will turn over the presidency in March.

Leoni, 55, won a reputation for honesty and achieved some popularity among workers as labor minister in Betancourt's 1946-47 provisional government.

Meanwhile, U.S. Embassy officials maintained a vigil most of the night for the release of Lt. Col. James K. Chenault, deputy chief of the U.S. military mission in Venezuela. He had not been released early today, however.

Railway Unions Fight Federal Ruling On Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five rail unions banded together today for a legal attempt to upset a federal arbitration ruling and the emergency law Congress passed to avert a nationwide strike.

The unions said that, under the arbitration decision to eliminate thousands of jobs, "the railroad corporations would make a handsome profit at the expense of their employes' freedom."

In a joint statement, the chiefs of the five train operating unions said a suit challenging last Tuesday's arbitration ruling will be filed in federal court here Friday.

They also authorized their attorneys to file another suit attacking the constitutionality of last August's emergency law under which the arbitration ruling was made.

Friday is the deadline under the law for challenging the arbitration ruling. There is no deadline for filing the unions' court challenge of the law, and no date was set.

The planned legal action added a few more knots to the snarled, four - year - old work rules dispute that has so far defied settlement efforts under the Railway Labor Act, the Labor Department, a special presidential emergency board and Congress.

Nearly 200 railroads are involved.

The unions refuse to accept last week's ruling of the arbitration board to eliminate slowly 90 per cent of some 32,000 firemen's jobs, and to give the National Mediation Board power to impose binding decisions on the size of train crews if the parties can't settle that issue on a local basis.

The ruling on the firemen's issue guaranteed job protection for most of the 40,000 men involved.

Holiday Hours Set For Taverns

State Legislators Await Message On Law Changes

LANSING (AP) — A message outlining Gov. George Romney's demands for effecting the new State Constitution awaited Michigan legislators today as they returned for the second special session of 1963.

Romney's message, calling for approximatly 100 changes in state law, was to be delivered in written form to lawmakers at 8 p.m.

Legislative leaders have set a tentative deadline of Dec. 20 to complete the task of the special session, giving them 14 days to work.

Romney said Monday his message will in most cases recommend passage of implementation bills drawn up by an 18-member, bi - partisan legislative committee.

The legislature must act to bring state laws into conformity with the new Constitution, which goes into effect Jan. 1, 1964, and replaces Michigan's present 1908 document.

Romney said he has no evidence thus far that Democrats, whose party bitterly opposed adoption of the new Constitution by voters, will try to block passage of any implementing legislation.

Key issues in the special session will concern election law changes, districts for the new appellate court, powers of the Civil Rights Commission and extension of terms for county officials and some judges.

Romney made no promises Monday to Rep. Russell Strange, R-Clare, the legislature's leading advocate of the most controversial single item on the list—a proposal to extend the terms of incumbent county officers an extra two years, until 1966.

The governor refused to tell newsmen what his position will be on the proposal.

Sources close to Romney have indicated, however, that he will oppose passage of the bill as drafted by the committee, of which Strange was a member.

The bill, one of approximately 39 dealing with elections law changes, is designed to set up the mechanics under which county officers would run on the same ballot with the governor, in the even - numbered years between presidential elections.

County officers and the governor will run for four-year terms instead of two-year terms under the new Constitution.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley already has ruled that the legislature has no power, under the new Constitution, to permit county officials elected for two years in 1962 to stay in office until 1966.

The committee, nevertheless, decided to recommend that they be held over an extra two years to avoid a cumbersome "bedsheet ballot" in the 1964 election.

Labor Lawyer Is Venezuela's New President

CARACAS, Venezuela (AP)—Raul Leoni, soft-spoken former labor lawyer pledged to carry on President Romulo Betancourt's opposition to Fidel Castro, won a smashing victory today in Venezuela's presidential election.

Leoni, Betancourt's candidate, led his nearest rival in the seven-man race by more than 200,000 votes, according to unofficial tabulations based on 70 per cent of the vote.

Defying threats, bullets and bombs from Communist terrorists, 95 per cent of Venezuela's eligible voters balloted Sunday.

Violence subsided in Caracas Monday. There was no sign of the outlawed pro-Castro Armed Forces for National Liberation (FALN), whose campaign of terror had resulted in an almost daily loss of life for months.

In second place in the presidential race was Rafael Caldera, a Social Christian member of Betancourt's government coalition. Unofficial returns today showed: Leoni, 692,206; Caldera, 470,174.

Exhausted from the strenuous campaign, Leoni went to bed in the early evening, confident that he would govern the oil-rich nation for the next five years.

Venezuela's constitution prevented Betancourt from succeeding himself. He will turn over the presidency in March.

Leoni, 55, won a reputation for honesty and achieved some popularity among workers as labor minister in Betancourt's 1946-47 provisional government.

Meanwhile, U.S. Embassy officials maintained a vigil most of the night for the release of Lt. Col. James K. Chenault, deputy chief of the U.S. military mission in Venezuela. He had not been released early today, however.

State Legislators Await Message On Law Changes

LANSING (AP) — A message outlining Gov. George Romney's demands for effecting the new State Constitution awaited Michigan legislators today as they returned for the second special session of 1963.

Romney's message, calling for approximatly 100 changes in state law, was to be delivered in written form to lawmakers at 8 p.m.

Legislative leaders have set a tentative deadline of Dec. 20 to complete the task of the special session, giving them 14 days to work.

Romney said Monday his message will in most cases recommend passage of implementation bills drawn up by an 18-member, bi - partisan legislative committee.

The legislature must act to bring state laws into conformity with the new Constitution, which goes into effect Jan. 1, 1964, and replaces Michigan's present 1908 document.

Romney said he has no evidence thus far that Democrats, whose party bitterly opposed adoption of the new Constitution by voters, will try to block passage of any implementing legislation.

Key issues in the special session will concern election law changes, districts for the new appellate court, powers of the Civil Rights Commission and extension of terms for county officials and some judges.

Romney made no promises Monday to Rep. Russell Strange, R-Clare, the legislature's leading advocate of the most controversial single item on the list—a proposal to extend the terms of incumbent county officers an extra two years, until 1966.

The governor refused to tell newsmen what his position will be on the proposal.

Sources close to Romney have indicated, however, that he will oppose passage of the bill as drafted by the committee, of which Strange was a member.

The bill, one of approximately 39 dealing with elections law changes, is designed to set up the mechanics under which county officers would run on the same ballot with the governor, in the even - numbered years between presidential elections.

County officers and the governor will run for four-year terms instead of two-year terms under the new Constitution.

Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley already has ruled that the legislature has no power, under the new Constitution, to permit county officials elected for two years in 1962 to stay in office until 1966.

The committee, nevertheless, decided to recommend that they be held over an extra two years to avoid a cumbersome "bed-sheet ballot" in the 1964 election.

Railway Unions Fight Federal Ruling On Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP) — Five rail unions banded together today for a legal attempt to upset a federal arbitration ruling and the emergency law Congress passed to avert a nationwide strike.

The unions said that, under the arbitration decision to eliminate thousands of jobs, "the railroad corporations would make a handsome profit at the expense of their employes' freedom."

In a joint statement, the chiefs of the five train operating unions said a suit challenging last Tuesday's arbitration ruling will be filed in federal court here Friday.

They also authorized their attorneys to file another suit attacking the constitutionality of last August's emergency law under which the arbitration ruling was made.

Friday is the deadline under the law for challenging the arbitration ruling. There is no deadline for filing the unions' court challenge of the law, and no date was set.

The planned legal action added a few more knots to the snarled, four - year - old work rules dispute that has so far defied settlement efforts under the Railway Labor Act, the Labor Department, a special presidential emergency board and Congress.

Nearly 200 railroads are involved.

The unions refuse to accept last week's ruling of the arbitration board to eliminate slowly 90 per cent of some 32,000 firemen's jobs, and to give the National Mediation Board power to impose binding decisions on the size of train crews if the parties can't settle that issue on a local basis.

The ruling on the firemen's issue guaranteed job protection for most of the 40,000 men involved.

Holiday Hours Set For Taverns

LANSING (AP) — Holiday closing hours for Michigan's taverns were announced Monday by the State Liquor Control Commission. It said no liquor is to be sold between 9 p.m. Christmas Eve and 7 a.m. Dec. 26. For New Year's Eve, the bars can stay open until 4 a.m. Jan. 1.

Pryal Urges Early Mailing

Biggest single factor in getting all the mail delivered before Christmas is early mailing Escanaba Postmaster James E. Pryal said today. The Post Office will have ample help and everything is being geared up to handle a record Christmas mail.

The entire Christmas mailing period is a big battle against time. Even though Christmas is 21 days away by the calendar, it's Christmas every day at the Post Office from now on.

"Don't take chances on mailing poorly wrapped packages. Use sturdy corrugated mailing cartons, plenty of heavy wrapping paper and strong cord. Cartons containing several gift packages should be well stuffed with tissue or old newspapers to cushion the contents", said Postmaster Pryal.

"If you have articles of unusual size or bulk, better check with the Post Office before attempting to mail them. The limits of size and weight of packages vary, depending on where you mail your packages from." He suggested calling the Post Office for information on weight and size limitations.

Christmas cards should be sent by First Class mail, using the new five cent Christmas Tree stamps. Be sure the return name and address, including the ZIP Code number, is on each Christmas card envelope.

Before making Christmas cards, secure free labels from the Post Office which read, "All for Local Delivery" and "All For Out of Town Delivery", so that you can sort your cards into two bundles, with the addresses all facing one way, thus expediting delivery.

Send all Christmas mail going long distances before December 10. Follow up promptly with cards and gifts for local delivery.

Bigger Antlers From 1963 Hunt

Not only were there more deer killed in the Upper Peninsula's recent season, but they had bigger racks. Hunters can't eat antlers, but they're part of the process that gives nimrods their bang in hunting.

A big rack that can hold up a tentful of outdoor gear lingers on after the noble stag is eaten and the slayer can safely then describe his huge chassis. If the rack is a big one it helps the fib.

Joseph Vogt, Escanaba District game supervisor of the Conservation Department, spent two days at the Mackinac Bridge during the deer season and his observations there and elsewhere indicate, he says, that this year's year and a half old deer had good sized antlers. This, he says, resulted from the mild winter of a year ago. They weren't emaciated and their health is reflected in their big antlers.

Further checks of measurements made of deer antlers will confirm this tentative observation, Vogt believes.

The final count on the U. P. hunt was 11,875 deer taken south over the Mackinac Bridge, compared with 9,700 in 1962, and 169 bears compared with 370 a year ago. Vogt believes that weather affected the bear kill strongly.

It was mild so the bears were out but the hunters wesen't because there were 8 days of rain in the U. P. season, and a lot of hunting time was lost. Vogt thinks that there were just as many bears to kill as a year ago and that because of the light kill there are more about than after the season last year.

Milk Inspection To Be Tighter

Changes coming in interstate milk inspection were described by Mason Smith, regional supervisor, Michigan Department of Agriculture, to the U. P. Dairy Conference in the State Office Building this morning.

Smith said that inspection is trending toward controls which will approve milk so that it can move in interstate shipment anywhere in the United States. This process already is far along and has concentrated more on fluid milk for drinking than it has on milk manufactured into dairy products, so far, but this second consideration will be getting increasing stress in the future, he said.

The trends result from efforts to improve the quality of dairy products.

R. T. Hartwig, Michigan State University agricultural economist of Marquette, said that the dairy farmer is a businessman today and must keep records.

Hugo Kivi, Michigan Farm Bureau representative in the Upper Peninsula, described the Dairy Herd Improvement Association supervisor's work and Russell Hanson, of the Michigan Artificial Breeders Association told of the contribution that artificial insemination of cattle had made to Upper Peninsula dairying.

Jack Little, director of the MSI Farm Experiment Station at Chatham, presided at the morning session. A Sherman Hotel luncheon meeting of the Extension directors, 4-H Club agents, teachers of agriculture, DHIA supervisors, artificial breeders technicians, dairy plant operators, milk inspectors and other dairy industry persons attending the conference was to hear Dr. Charles H. Cole of Escanaba, assistant state veterinarian of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, on U. P. livestock health.

Dr. A. S. Mowery, MSU district director, Marquette, welcomed the conferees and Joseph L. Heirman, Delta County Extension director, was to preside at this afternoon's session.

Plans Outlined On New School

A sound building design, functional and economical, has been the aim in formulating plans for the proposed new Franklin elementary school, Escanaba Kiwanis Club members were told Monday in a discussion of school needs led by representatives of the area board of education. On the discussion panel were Claude H. Bohn, who represented parents supporting the school project; Dr. William Hemes, president of the school board; and Dr. Vern Johnson of the school board. The program was arranged by Fred Swank.

Bohn said that the Franklin project must be viewed as a part of the total community program for building up a modern area school system.

"We are fortunate in what we have", Bohn declared. "I hope we can keep it that way."

Hemes and Johnson supplied facts on the plans for the school, which provide for eight classrooms, a kindergarten, a multi-purpose room, and an area for a library, health services, office and teachers' work room.

The school building proposition will be up for a vote at a special election Dec. 16.

Vadnais is stage and technical director and Beck is director of music for Oklahoma! Others of the production staff are Jeanette LeCaptain, choreography; John Gustafson, art; Mel Jensen, stage; and Mrs. Glenn Gamble, make-up.

Principals in the cast include Dale Helms as Curly, Carol Kaiser, as Laurey, Susan Mallman in the role of Ado Annie, Tom Olson as Ali Hakim and Dale Horchner as Jud Fry. Others in the cast: Kay Kearns, Steve Oman, Bill Boyce, Wally Schultz, Terry Lindstrom, Marietta Carlson, June Segorski, Sherri Seidl, Patricia Costley, Sue Johns, Linda Henslee, Rick Dewar, Bob Haack, Same Oslund, Tom Anderson and Gerry Ericksen.

The large chorus and orchestra contribute to the success of the production, for which tickets are available at Gust Asp's, Ernie's Party Store and Delta Music Center.

Ralph Eagles Of Brampton Mark Jubilee

PERKINS — Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Eagle of Brampton recently celebrated their 25th wedding anniversary with a Mass of Thanksgiving at St. Joseph's Catholic Church in Perkins with Father Edward Malloy officiating. After Mass a breakfast for the immediate family was held at the Eagle home. A reception and wedding dance were at Brampton Community Hall.

Mr. and Mrs. Eagle are the parents of eight children, who were all present. They are: Richard Eagle, Gladstone; Mrs. Nick (Patricia) Broeders, Brampton; Calvin (Judith) Moreau, Brampton; Mrs. Dayton (Barbara) Dahn, Brampton; Airman Second Class David Eagle of K. I. Sawyer Air Base; Mrs. Roderick (Jean) Johnson, Gladstone, Rte. 1; and Susan and Alice at home. They also have nine grandchildren.

Brampton Smear Club

The Brampton Smear Club met at Brampton Hall which was decorated in a Thanksgiving motif for the occasion by Mrs. Mike Constantineau, hostess. Mrs. Bessie Lucier was high with Mrs. John Eagle second, Mrs. Donna Herzog, low. Mrs. Donna Elliott won the guest prize. Mrs. Pat Broeders will be hostess for the next meeting.

Soo Native Dies In Plane Crash

BLACK RIVER FALLS, Wis (AP)— One of two deer hunters killed in the crash of their light plane Sunday, Jack Duescher, 27, was a native of Sault Ste. Marie, Mich.

Duescher, now a resident here, and Robert Cummings, 29, also of Black River Falls, were killed when the plane fell in a deer field.

Witnesses said the plane, owned and piloted by Duescher, crashed when the engine failed as it was circling over tree tops.

Milk Inspection To Be Tighter

Changes coming in interstate milk inspection were described by Mason Smith, regional supervisor, Michigan Department of Agriculture, to the U. P. Dairy Conference in the State Office Building this morning.

Smith said that inspection is trending toward controls which will approve milk so that it can move in interstate shipment anywhere in the United States. This process already is far along and has concentrated more on fluid milk for drinking than it has on milk manufactured into dairy products, so far, but this second consideration will be getting increasing stress in the future, he said.

The trends result from efforts to improve the quality of dairy products.

R. T. Hartwig, Michigan State University agricultural economist of Marquette, said that the dairy farmer is a businessman today and must keep records.

Hugo Kivi, Michigan Farm Bureau representative in the Upper Peninsula, described the Dairy Herd Improvement Association supervisor's work and Russell Hanson, of the Michigan Artificial Breeders Association told of the contribution that artificial insemination of cattle had made to Upper Peninsula dairying.

Jack Little, director of the MSI Farm Experiment Station at Chatham, presided at the morning session. A Sherman Hotel luncheon meeting of the Extension directors, 4-H Club agents, teachers of agriculture, DHIA supervisors, artificial breeders technicians, dairy plant operators, milk inspectors and other dairy industry persons attending the conference was to hear Dr. Charles H. Cole of Escanaba, assistant state veterinarian of the Michigan Department of Agriculture, on U. P. livestock health.

Dr. A. S. Mowery, MSU district director, Marquette, welcomed the conferees and Joseph L. Heirman, Delta County Extension director, was to preside at this afternoon's session.

Miss Brunelle In Honor Society

BARK RIVER—Miss Mary Lee Brunelle, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Brunelle, was recently pledged and initiated in Kappa Omicron Phi, professional, national and honorary fraternity, for Home Ec and dietitians. This is the only chapter in Wisconsin and admission is based on scholarship and personality and is made by invitation only. The person pledged must have the unanimous vote of all active members to be invited and approved. This is followed by a one month's probation period and a written examination before acceptance. Miss Brunelle is a junior at Mount Mary College in Milwaukee.

4-H Club

The Harris 4 - H Handi-Stitchers met Saturday morning in the Bark River-Harris High School Library and elected Kathy Motto president; Cheryl Peltier, vice-president; Mary Bellefeuil, secretary; Susan Schiesser, treasurer; Judy Ryan, reporter; Carol Motto, recreation leader. Senior leaders of the club this year are Mesdames Edward Motto, Edward Beauchamp, Robert Bell and Richard Schiesser.

Mr. and Mrs. David Kwarciany and family were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Kwarciany, the former's parents. They returned to their home in Milwaukee Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Casper Bartley and children of Milwaukee were weekend guests of Mrs. Bartley's parents, the Roy Bergmans.

WLST To Receive Network Salute

Radio WLST and Escanaba will reecive a national salute from the American Broadcasting Corp. on Friday, Dec. 6, when the network recognizes WLST's fifth anniversary.

Bud Shields, WLST manager, has been advised by Maury Benkoil, assistant national program director of ABC, that the salute will be heard on many of the network programs.

Benkoil in announcing the WLST anniversary recognition told Shields that he is sure the salute will be an enjoyable feature of the day.

St. Paul Guild Planning Bazaar

The annual bazaar sponsored by St. Paul's Guild of St. Paul Episcopal Church, Nahma will be held Saturday, beginning at 7:30 p. m., in the Nahma clubhouse. A wide selection of fancy work is being offered and a special will be an assortment of hand knitted goods, such as booties, slippers, and stuffed animals. A cakewalk and cards also are planned. In charge are Mmes. John Schwartz, Herbert Blowers and James Moore.

Plans Outlined On New School

A sound building design, functional and economical, has been the aim in formulating plans for the proposed new Franklin elementary school, Escanaba Kiwanis Club members were told Monday in a discussion of school needs led by representatives of the area board of education. On the discussion panel were Claude H. Bohn, who represented parents supporting the school project; Dr. William Hemes, president of the school board; and Dr. Vern Johnson of the school board. The program was arranged by Fred Swank.

Bohn said that the Franklin project must be viewed as a part of the total community program for building up a modern area school system.

"We are fortunate in what we have", Bohn declared. "I hope we can keep it that way."

Hemes and Johnson supplied facts on the plans for the school, which provide for eight classrooms, a kindergarten, a multi-purpose room, and an area for a library, health services, office and teachers' work room.

The school building proposition will be up for a vote at a special election Dec. 16.

Trenary

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Roberts Sr. spent Thanksgiving at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Hasenberg, Ewen.

Edward Laurila is a medical patient at St. Luke's Hospital, Marquette.

Advent Service At Immanuel Wednesday Night

Robert Schrader will be the vocal soloist at the first Advent mid-week service at 7:30 p.m. Wednesday at Immanuel Lutheran Church of Escanaba. The meditation will be given by Pastor Clarence Solberg, pastor of Trinity Lutheran Church of Green Bay.

The Advent services with candlelight and recorded Christmas music for meditation have become a much appreciated tradition at Immanuel. The services are designed not only to herald the coming of Christmas, but to provide spiritual renewal and a respite in the midst of the season's rush.

Friends from the community are invited to share these services. Others in tre series will be held Dec. 11 and 18.

MSU Gains Rank, 8th University

EAST LANSING — Michigan State University, the University of Michigan and Wayne State University are again listed as three of the nation's largest universities in the 44th annual analysis of enrollments by the University of Cincinnati.

The figures were prepared for School and Society, an education journal, by Dr. Garland G. Parker, registrar and central admissions officer at Cincinnati.

Michigan State, which was ninth nationally last year in full-time students with 23,595 enrolled, is now eighth with 26,170.

Michigan increased in full-time enrollment from 21,691 to 22,058 and remains in 11th place. Wayne State, which was not listed among the top 30 last year in full-time enrollment, is 29th this year with 12,154.

Although the U. of M., grand total increased from 30,152 to 30,799 in this category, it went from 10 to 12th place, nationally.

Dr. Parker's survey took in 1,097 accredited universities and four-year colleges in the United States and Puerto Rico.

Enrolled were 2,594,519 full-time students and 3,702,331 in the grand-total category, marking the 11th straight year of increase.

Population studies, the report said, indicate that 20 per cent more young men and women may apply for campus admission in 1964 and another 12 per cent in 1965.

In terms of full-time enrollments reported, the leading schools are: 1. University of California, 62,240; 2. State University of New York, 52,893; 3. City University of New York, 40,580; 4. Minnesota, 35,112; 5. Wisconsin, 30,868; 6. Ohio State, 29,496; 7. Illinois, 29,471;; 8. Michigan State, 26,170; 9. Texas, 25,118; 10. Indiana, 23,679; 11. Michigan, 22,058; 12. Pennsylvania State, 20,331; 13. Missouri, 20,096; 14. Washington, 18,203; 15. Purdue, 16,584.

Four Michigan Couples Adopt Korean Orphans

They had arrived on a chartered plane from Il San, Korea, the site of an orphanage near Seoul, as part of a group of 52 American couples who adopted 78 orphans. The children ranged in age from six months to 13 years.

The Michigan couples were Mr. and Mrs. David Lubben of Holland, the Rev. and Mrs. Morris Bauman of Elkton, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Katz of Battle Creek and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Brower of Spring Lake.

The flight was sponsored by American Mothers of Adopted Korean Children, an organization started by an Oregon farmer, Henry Holt, to find homes for the youngsters.

The Escanaba Daily Press has expanded its circulation to the Newberry area. This means 200 more subscribers with more to come. This is valuable additional coverage to Press advertisers.

Show Of Week Is TV Shocker

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AP Television-Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — NBC's "Show of the Week," whose Sunday night dramatic programs too often are rather flabby, Sunday night turned up a taut shocker.

It was called "Ride With Terror," a story about two punks cowing a dozen passengers on a late night subway train.

The hoodlums were first shown as they robbed an elderly man of $8 and then beat him senseless for kicks. Then we followed the train as it picked up passengers, an unattractive lot except for one.

The punks swaggered aboard and began to torture, humiliate and frighten the passengers in turn.

One or two spoke up hesitantly and an elderly man flared out at the young hoodlums briefly. The rest just sat there. Nobody wanted to get involved.

One suspects that author Nicholas Baehr was saying something rather basic about people and modern attitudes. It was pretty obvious that if the passengers had gotten together early, the bullies would never have tried anything.

"The World's Greatest Showman," NBC's appreciation of the late Cecil B. DeMille — started Sunday night with a scene in which Victor Mature as Samson pushed over the great stone pillars. And for the next 90 minutes some of DeMille's stars—including Gloria Swanson, James Stewart, Cornel Wilde and Yul Brynner — talked about the famous director.

The show could have been shortened by at least a half hour, but it was a pleasant program.

Conservation Reform

For the past 8 months a special committee of 21 persons has been studying Michigan's Conservation Department for Governor Romney. On Monday he announced its report.

Governor Romney ordered an investigation of the Conservation Department after the campaign which resulted in his election. He heard so many complaints about the Department that he thought a sudy of it would be in the interest of good state government.

The committee concensus was that a study was in order, too, but for reasons that only faintly coincided, probably, with the complaints that Governor Romney heard in his campaign tour of the State a year ago. The committee is a lay committee but it included many persons with special skills in governmental structure, communications, resource management, law, scientific research, business, industry and education.

To augment the committee's own inquiries it obtained the professional services of the Wildlife Management Institute, headed by Dr. Ira Gabrielson, to make a study of the Conservation Department. Its report was appended to that of the lay committee in the report to Governor Romney.

The Gabrielson Report covered basic laws creating and controlling the Conservation Department, the Department's program and its organization. The lay committee made its study in five subcommittee areas: 1. Simplification of Laws and Regulations; 2. Organization and Personnel; 3. Information and Education; 4. Parks and Outdoor Recreation, and 5. Research.

A preamble to the report expressing a philosophy of natural resource management said Michigan had been in the forefront of resource management but now finds itself faced with new challenges of "wise use of all of our natural resources so that a rising population, expanding leisure time and conflicting demands of its people upon these resources can be reconciled, balanced and, when necessary, compromised . . . The challenge of today and tomorrow no longer is conservation of dwindling natural resources, but the management of these resources in the light of their human values."

The study found that Michigan has been fortunate in an able staffing of its Conservation Department, but that structurally it creaks and limps and is ridden with inter-divisional rivalries; is not well related to the Legislature nor the general public and in a position to be helped to better performance by some reforms.

Suggested were:

Laws: 1. Codification of the statutes is needed. The book "Laws Relating to Conservation" is full of overlappings, inconsistencies and conflicts.

2. A clear statement of overall natural resources policy is needed as a preamble to the entire body of conservation law.

3. Clear division of responsibility and authority between the commission (policy formulation) and director (administration.)

4. Regulation of wildlife harvest should be a function of the Commission.

2. Abolition of the position of secretary to the commission (now held by Robert Furlong) and appointment by the director of an administrative assistant.

3. Elimination of the chief deputy director and the two present assistant deputy director positions and creation of three deputy directors: 1. field operations; 2. staff, and 3. services.

4. That all present operating divisions at state headquarters level, with exception of geology, become staff sections, developing plans. Putting them into effect should be the responsibility of field operations under deputy director-field.

5. Operation of line organizations on basis of 5 or not more than 6 administrative regions. (The U. P. would be one.) Elimination of present districts as administrative units.

Information and Education: 1. Immediate re-establishment of the Department's in-service training of its personnel.

2. Critical evaluation of the teacher training program.

3. Restoration of Department TV program.

4. Reorientation of the Department magazine and other publications.

5. Uniforming of Department personnel.

Parks & Recreation: 1. Enlargement of state recreational holdings in populous and strategic areas.

2. State encouragement of private enterprise in recreational developments.

3. Creation of a master state plan for recreation facilities.

4. Park financing by other means than revenue bonding and more Department freedom in use of acquisition and development money, along with consideration of more user fees.

Research: Creation of a Research Advisory Committee.

Let's Help Santa

Escanaba's city firemen are receiving used toys again and putting them through a process of rehabilitation in their Santa's Workshop. They do this every year in the pre-holiday season. It is one of the fine things that our firemen do for the community every year.

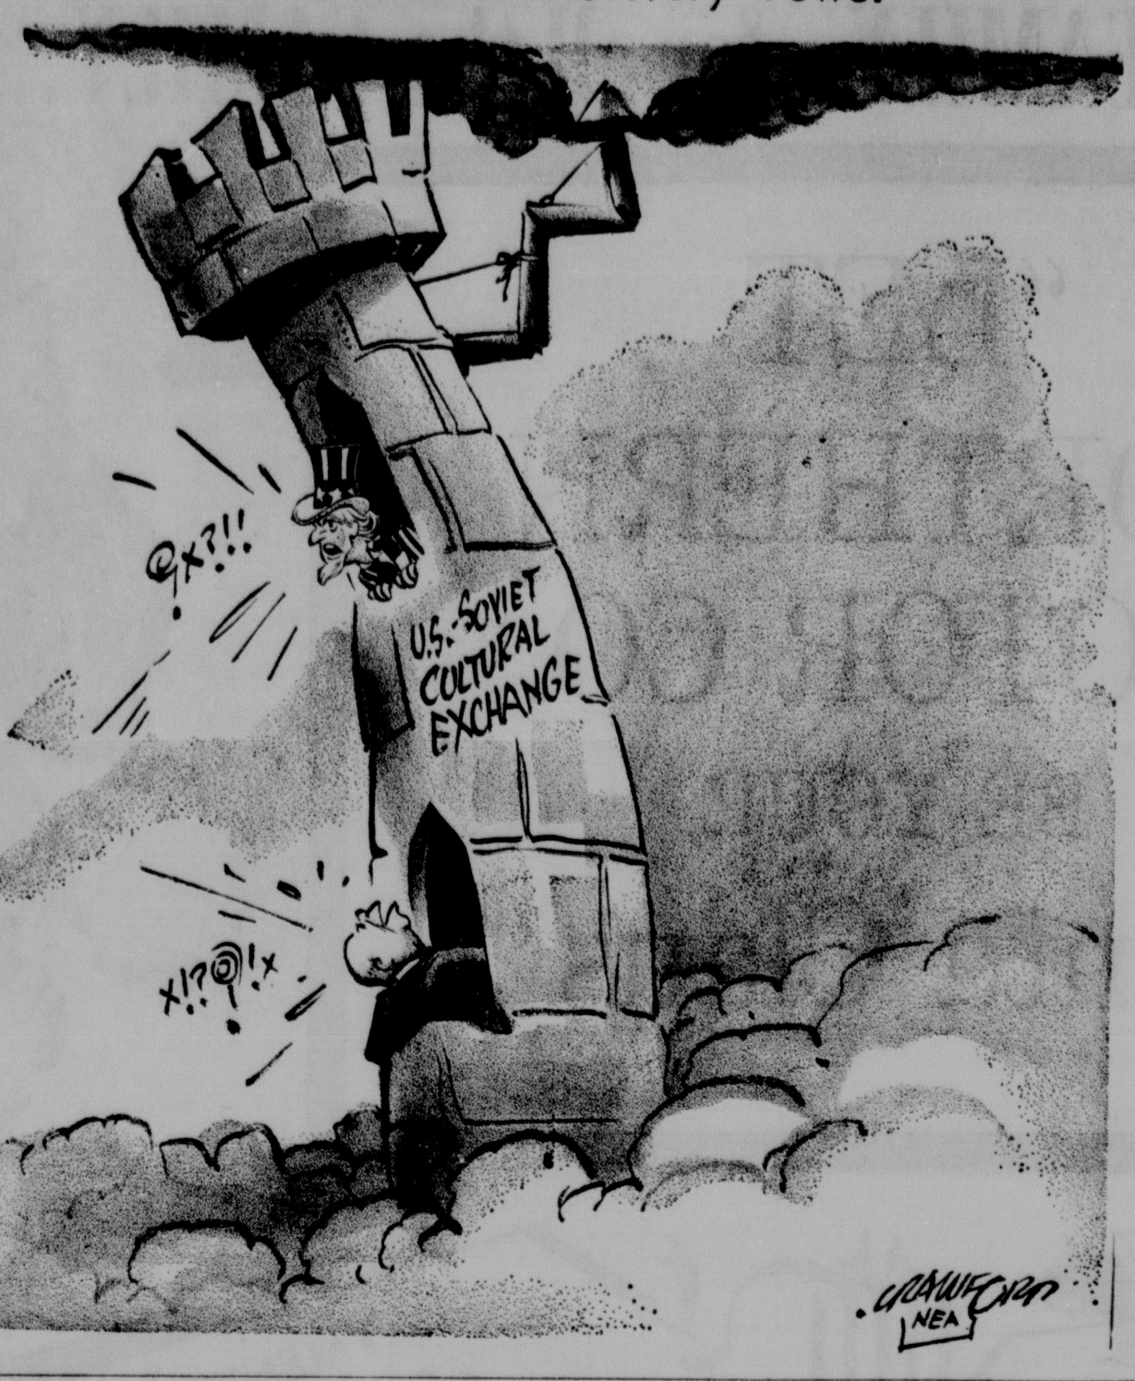
If you have toys that your children aren't using any more please make them available to the Fire Department. They'll make another Christmas bright for some child.

Change Of Season

Come now the snows and ice of winter and driving hazards increase, both because of the shorter hours of daylight and because of the often slippery highways. Humans are creatures of habit, and this habit tends to make drivers drive as fast and with as little caution on the first ice and snow of winter as on the last bare pavement of fall. They can do it only to their peril. Now's the time to slow down.

The State Highway Department and all the traffic safety organizations say "Go slow on ice and snow!"

Trouble in the Ivory Tower



Edson In Washington

By PETER EDSON

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — "Let the Alliance for Progress be President Kennedy's living memorial," said President Lyndon Johnson in his first official public statement.

It was delivered to the Latin-American diplomats who had been invited to the White House East Room at Mrs. Jacqueline Kennedy's suggestion.

President Kennedy had assembled the Latin-American diplomatic corps in this same room on March 13, 1961, to announce his plan for the alliance in his first foreign policy speech.

Since that time the alliance has come upon bad days. It has not seemed to fulfill its early hopes and high purpose.

The conference of ministers held recently in Sao Paulo, Brazil, to review two years of actual operations under the alliance and plan its next moves, got a bad press.

Brazil had proposed complete reorganization of the alliance to subordinate the United States role in everything except financing it to the tune of $1 billion a year.

Brazil has confiscated American power and mining enterprises. The Argentine is threatening confiscation of American oil companies. Congress has heard demand for retailiation and a cutoff of aid.

United States aid has been suspended to the Dominican Republic, Honduras and Haiti because of their bad political situations. Communist Cuba has been expelled from the Organization of American States and was never in the alliance.

Bolivia has resigned from the OAS, though it participates in the alliance. Co-operation has become difficult.

And yet, one member of the U. S. delegation to Sao Paulo, headed by Undersecretary of State Averell Harriman, declares: "The story of Sao Paulo is not what a few did not do or did not want to do. The real story is what the majority did for the promotion of economic progress and social justice throughout Latin America."

Argentina, Chile, Colombia, Mexico, Peru, Venezuela and others were active in keeping the alliance alive. With the support of the United States, their program prevailed.

It was embodied in six main resolutions which even Brazil finally swung around to support, though Bolivia did not.

● The first resolution creates a new Committee on Inter-American Progress — (CIAP)—which will function as a board of directors to accelerate all programs. It will consist of a chairman, who will be a general manager, and seven members—all outstanding citizens, one of whom will be from the United States

They are to be chosen before January 15. They will sit in Washington in continuous review of national and regional programs which will promote alliance objectives. They will develop financial sources and oversee their distribution. They will pass on program feasibility and execution.

● A second resolution calls on the Latin-American countries to hold a special meeting which will co-ordinate their policies in preparation for the United Nations Trade and Development Conference to open in Geneva next March. The United States will have an observer with this group.

● The third resolution will create a committee to promote Latin-American exports to improve their balance-of-payments positions.

● The fourth will call for promotion of labor participation.

● The fifth will deal with co-ordination of regional economic integration plans, as in the Central American common market.

● The sixth will call for establishment of an OAS multilateral fund to support special social progress programs. These programs will include agarian reform, tax reform, education, technical co-operation, health, national economic planning, and information programs on all these activities, to reach all the people or at least more of the people in Latin America.

The United States has been financing most of this development work in the first two years of the alliance. It is now planned to have all countries contribute to this fund.

This is the program which must be carried out if new President Lyndon Johnson is to make good on his pledge "to improve and strengthen the role of the United States in the Alliance for Progress and make it a memorial to John F. Kennedy."

The Doctor Says:

Mass Tests For Syphilis Futile

By Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D.

Q—You said in one of your answers that there was an increase in syphilis in teenagers. Why don't they require all high school students to have a blood test? And food handlers, too, so they won't give it to someone else. Is there any way to tell if someone has syphilis without a blood test?

A—Because syphilis is transmitted by such contact as kissing or sexual intercourse and not through food or eating utensils, there would be no point in singling out food handlers for blood testing. All public health agencies are interested in case finding but mass blood testing of teenagers or any other group is not as effective as finding those who have had intimate contact with known cases. A physician making a physical examination of a person with early syphilis may find lesions that strongly suggest syphilis, but he should confirm his suspicions with a blood test or other laboratory findings.

Q—Is syphilis in the late stages curable?

A—In late syphilis, which may affect the bones, heart, brain and other organs, tissues that are destroyed cannot be repaired. But the process can be stopped to prevent further damage. Some form of penicillin is usually used. The earlier the treatment is applied the better the results.

Q—A doctor told me 28 years ago I had syphilis although I was not tested for it until 15 years later At that time the tests were negative. Could I be infected now?

A — No responsible doctor would make a diagnosis of syphilis without confirming laboratory tests. You do not say what treatment you took, but it is unlikely that your doctor would have cured you with his methods. Penicillin was not available in those days and, although cure was possible, the treatment was long and tedious. Fortunately most doctors are careful and painstaking and practice the best medicine consistent with the times.

Since your tests show that you don't have syphilis now, there is a better than average chance that you did not have it 28 years ago. The initial lesion, the chancre, is not painful and does not itch.

Q—When I was overseas I had 40 shots of penicillin for syphilis and was pronounced cured but my blood test still comes back positive. What is the reason and what should I do?

A — Yours is a relatively common but troublesome problem. If you had 40 injections of penicillin and were pronounced cured (most cures require much less penicillin), it is safe to say you were cured. In a few persons a cure fails to cause a return of a negative blood test. With this fact established, your best course is to stop worrying as long as you don't expose yourself to reinfection.

Please send your questions and comments to Dr. Wayne G. Brandstadt, M.D., in care of this paper. While Dr. Brandstadt cannot answer individual letters, he will answer letters of general interest in future columns.

HONOLULU (AP)—There are so many coconut trees in Hawaii that there aren't enough people to keep them trimmed.

Trimming of trees on public streets and parks is necessary to prevent sore heads and dented cars—the nuts aren't particular where they fall.

But the state employment service said there aren't sufficient trimmers on hand to keep the trees free of overripe and potentially dangerous nuts.

MEMORY LANE—

Sgt. Ray Norberg, a former Escanaba Daily Press carrier at Manistique, is a member of the 179th Army Band at Camp Carson, Colo., and will appear with four other army bandmen on a nation-wide radio program tomorrow evening. The show in which he appears is entitled "Talent Patrol."

A new hardware store opens tomorrow at 906 Ludington. Hilding Norstrom of Gladstone is the proprietor.

A Good Samaritan deed, much akin to that recorded in Holy Writ, is reported from Menominee today. Frank Schreiner of Menominee, while out deer hunting was badly injured when his gun was accidently discharged. Attempting to drive home he passed out, due to loss of blood. A stranger came along, drove him to the hospital where Schreiner's hand had to be amputated. The benefactor did not identify himself.

Twenty Years Ago

Approximately 150 students are enrolled in the Escanaba Vocational School. Not all the necessary motor equipment has arrived and training will not get fully underway until it does.

Arrests and confessions have it is hoped, put an end to numerous gasoline thefts in Manistique. Because of rigid restrictions on gasoline, these thefts have brought hardship to many people whose work depends much on the use of their cars.

H. A. Harris, retired Soo Line station agent, died recently in Florida. Mr. Harris was for 28 years station agent at Rapid River.

Thirty Years Ago

About 250 CWA workers attended a mass meeting in the city hall at Escanaba last evening to protest against the 40 cent hour wage rate and to issue a demand for an increase in pay to 50 cents an hour.

County Auditor General O. B. Fuller, in response to an inquiry, by the Escanaba Chamber of Commerce concerning advisable work relief projects, suggested the development of additional water power on the Escanaba and other streams in the area.

Highway US-41 between Gladstone and Rapid River, has been closed and traffic is now rerouted via Highway M-35 and an improved side road. Highway 41 will be paved when completed.

Kennedy Mantle Falls On Robert

WASHINGTON (AP) — What does the future hold for Robert Francis Kennedy, brother and No. 1 adviser to a president now dead at an assassin's hand?

The word today is that the 38-year-old attorney general — whom millions of television viewers saw constantly by the heroic widow's side — will be back soon from a brief rest in Florida, and that he is:

Ready to support the new President, Lyndon B. Johnson, as fully as Johnson supported John F. Kennedy.

Though he has spoken no public word on his plans he is expected to carry on.

Crusader For Negroes

He would not, of course, if Johnson wanted another man. But Johnson has asked all Cabinet members to stay. Anyway, those knowledgeable of the national scene would consider it unthinkable for Johson to let Kennedy go.

For one thing, much of the Kennedy mantle has fallen on the oldest surviving brother. To many Negroes, for example, Robert Kennedy is a knightly crusader for their civil rights, though by the same token some Negro leaders have felt he did not push hard enough.

There has been talk—it is too early to tell whether it has substance—that Johnson might ask him to join the ticket next year as vice presidential nominee.

As for the long-term future, his friends and wife Ethel are convinced that at some time he will run for public office. For the Kennnedys have been and are competitive men, public men intent on affairs of state.

Faith Revealed

How did Robert bear the blow of his brother's death? With the somber calm of a Stoic—a calm induced by a faith younger than stoicism, yet old.

On the fateful Nov. 22, he had finished a conference at the Justice Department — a session dealing ironically with how to combat crime. He invited the conferees, U.S. Atty. Robert Morgenthau of New York City and an assistant, Silvio Mallo, out for lunch at the many-windowed, rambling, white brick farmhouse in McLean, Va.

With Mrs. Kennedy, they were seated on a veranda for the lunch, when a telephone rang. Robert went to answer it.

As he went, an electrician working on a nearly completed addition to the house strode toward the open veranda and called out softly that he had just heard on the radio that the President had been shot.

Robert evidently did not hear this. He went to the phone and received from FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover the word that the President had been struck down, probably fatally.

Call From Texas

Then, in a short time came a call from Texas, telling of the President's death. Old friends and neighbors dropped in soon to say and do what they could.

First was John A. McCone, head of the CIA, which is not far away.

Lyndon B. Johnson called from Texas, asking in choked tones for legal advice. Would it be all right for him to take the oath in Texas? It would.

Ethel drove away to take the school-age Kennedy children out of school. She wanted to tell them — Kathleen, Joe, Bobby, David and Courtney — before others did.

About 4:30 p.m. the attorney general went to the Pentagon for a 20-minute talk with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. Then by helicopter to Andrews Air Force Base, where he bounded up a stairs and entered the plane bearing the casket, the widow, the new President, the new First Lady.

"Don't Be Sad"

The world knows now how Robert was at the widow's side in the days that followed, how he walked and sat by her side constantly and helped with the funeral arrangements.

Robert F. Kennedy is no man to tell publicly now what his thoughts were, or what his words were, during the tragic days.

But he is known to have had this little conversation with an assistant who appproached him:

"How are you doing?" Kennedy asked.

"I've had better days," the saddened assistant said.

"Don't be sad," Kennedy said.

The assistant said he is certain that these words came from Kennedy's deep well of religious conviction.

Conservation Reform

For the past 8 months a special committee of 21 persons has been studying Michigan's Conservation Department for Governor Romney. On Monday he announced its report.

Governor Romney ordered an investigation of the Conservation Department after the campaign which resulted in his election. He heard so many complaints about the Department that he thought a sudy of it would be in the interest of good state government.

The committee concensus was that a study was in order, too, but for reasons that only faintly coincided, probably, with the complaints that Governor Romney heard in his campaign tour of the State a year ago. The committee is a lay committee but it included many persons with special skills in governmental structure, communications, resource management, law, scientific research, business, industry and education.

* * *

To augment the committee's own inquiries it obtained the professional services of the Wildlife Management Institute, headed by Dr. Ira Gabrielson, to make a study of the Conservation Department. Its report was appended to that of the lay committee in the report to Governor Romney.

The Gabrielson Report covered basic laws creating and controlling the Conservation Department, the Department's program and its organization. The lay committee made its study in five subcommittee areas: 1. Simplification of Laws and Regulations; 2. Organization and Personnel; 3. Information and Education; 4. Parks and Outdoor Recreation, and 5. Research.

A preamble to the report expressing a philosophy of natural resource management said Michigan had been in the forefront of resource management but now finds itself faced with new challenges of "wise use of all of our natural resources so that a rising population, expanding leisure time and conflicting demands of its people upon these resources can be reconciled, balanced and, when necessary, compromised . . . The challenge of today and tomorrow no longer is conservation of dwindling natural resources, but the management of these resources in the light of their human values."

* * *

The study found that Michigan has been fortunate in an able staffing of its Conservation Department, but that structurally it creaks and limps and is ridden with inter-divisional rivalries; is not well related to the Legislature nor the general public and in a position to be helped to better performance by some reforms.

Suggested were:

* * *

Laws: 1. Codification of the statutes is needed. The book "Laws Relating to Conservation" is full of overlappings, inconsistencies and conflicts.

2. A clear statement of overall natural resources policy is needed as a preamble to the entire body of conservation law.

3. Clear division of responsibility and authority between the commission (policy formulation) and director (administration.)

4. Regulation of wildlife harvest should be a function of the Commission.

* * *

2. Abolition of the position of secretary to the commission (now held by Robert Furlong) and appointment by the director of an administrative assistant.

3. Elimination of the chief deputy director and the two present assistant deputy director positions and creation of three deputy directors: 1. field operations; 2. staff, and 3. services.

4. That all present operating divisions at state headquarters level, with exception of geology, become staff sections, developing plans. Putting them into effect should be the responsibility of field operations under deputy director-field.

5. Operation of line organizations on basis of 5 or not more than 6 administrative regions. (The U. P. would be one.) Elimination of present districts as administrative units.

* * *

Information and Education: 1. Immediate re-establishment of the Department's in-service training of its personnel.

2. Critical evaluation of the teacher training program.

3. Restoration of Department TV program.

4. Reorientation of the Department magazine and other publications.

5. Uniforming of Department personnel.

* * *

Parks & Recreation: 1. Enlargement of state recreational holdings in populous and strategic areas.

2. State encouragement of private enterprise in recreational developments.

3. Creation of a master state plan for recreation facilities.

4. Park financing by other means than revenue bonding and more Department freedom in use of acquisition and development money, along with consideration of more user fees.

Research: Creation of a Research Advisory Committee.

Let's Help Santa

Escanaba's city firemen are receiving used toys again and putting them through a process of rehabilitation in their Santa's Workshop. They do this every year in the pre-holiday season. It is one of the fine things that our firemen do for the community every year.

If you have toys that your children aren't using any more please make them available to the Fire Department. They'll make another Christmas bright for some child.

As for the long-term future, his friends and wife Ethel are convinced that at some time he will run for public office. For the Kennnedys have been and are competitive men, public men intent on affairs of state.

Faith Revealed

How did Robert bear the blow of his brother's death? With the somber calm of a Stoic—a calm induced by a faith younger than stoicism, yet old.

On the fateful Nov. 22, he had finished a conference at the Justice Department — a session dealing ironically with how to combat crime. He invited the conferees, U.S. Atty. Robert Morgenthau of New York City and an assistant, Silvio Mallo, out for lunch at the many-windowed, rambling, white brick farmhouse in McLean, Va.

With Mrs. Kennedy, they were seated on a veranda for the lunch, when a telephone rang. Robert went to answer it.

As he went, an electrician working on a nearly completed addition to the house strode toward the open veranda and called out softly that he had just heard on the radio that the President had been shot.

Robert evidently did not hear this. He went to the phone and received from FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover the word that the President had been struck down, probably fatally.

Call From Texas

Then, in a short time came a call from Texas, telling of the President's death. Old friends and neighbors dropped in soon to say and do what they could.

First was John A. McCone, head of the CIA, which is not far away.

Lyndon B. Johnson called from Texas, asking in choked tones for legal advice. Would it be all right for him to take the oath in Texas? It would.

Ethel drove away to take the school-age Kennedy children out of school. She wanted to tell them — Kathleen, Joe, Bobby, David and Courtney — before others did.

About 4:30 p.m. the attorney general went to the Pentagon for a 20-minute talk with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara. Then by helicopter to Andrews Air Force Base, where he bounded up a stairs and entered the plane bearing the casket, the widow, the new President, the new First Lady.

"Don't Be Sad"

The world knows now how Robert was at the widow's side in the days that followed, how he walked and sat by her side constantly and helped with the funeral arrangements.

Robert F. Kennedy is no man to tell publicly now what his thoughts were, or what his words were, during the tragic days.

But he is known to have had this little conversation with an assistant who appproached him:

"How are you doing?" Kennedy asked.

"I've had better days," the saddened assistant said.

"Don't be sad," Kennedy said.

The assistant said he is certain that these words came from Kennedy's deep well of religious conviction.

Citizens Study Calls For Zest In Conservation

LANSING (AP) — The State State Conservation Department needs new organization, new zest and an attitude of greater service to the public, says a special citizens study committee appointed by Gov. George Romney.

In an eight-month study in which more than 200 department employes were interviewed, the committee found no evidence of misfeasance or malfeasance in office, its report said.

But, it added, "We find that the agency has fallen from its historic position of leadership in this field and needs a determined and immediate revitalization."

The report said the department had a tendency toward bureaucratic intertia. It recommended reorganization of the department.

Changes Outlined

All field operations, it said, should be under five regional directors responsible to a single head. The Lansing headquarters setup should be changed to staff units responsible solely for planning, research, policy recommendations and service programs, the study recommended.

This would eliminate interdivisional rivalry and help long distance planning and the making of decisions, said the report.

Gov. Romney said many of the changes recommended could be made by department ruling. The governor said he would have time to make any recommendations to the Legislature for changes in the law that might be needed.

Other recommendations included:

— A recodification and simplification of conservation laws and regulations to aid understanding by the public.

— Providing distinctive uniforms for all conservation workers in the field to help establish identity, inspire public confidence and aid department morale.

— A better program of evaluating public opinion in making policy, explaining commission and department decisions to the public and in training employes to meet people in the field.

— Creation of a research division to coordinate needed programs with care to avoid duplication with private research efforts.

Bond Issue Criticized

The report was critical of the present $10 million bonding program to finance parks expansion.

The $10 million bond issue will be spent in five years but it will take 25 years to retire the bonds at an interest total of more than $7 million, it was noted.

Consideration of park financing by means other than another bonding program was suggested. Larger legislative appropriations and additional use fees were listed as possible means of obtaining more money for this purpose.

"The public seems to be willing to pay modest fees for the use of camp sites, parking lots, bath houses, picnic tables, fireplaces and protected beaches," said the report.

The sub-committee on parks and recreation, headed by Jean Worth, editor of the Escanaba Daily Press, said the department should concentrate on enlarging its land holdings in populous areas where present facilities are overburdened.

Better Support Needed

The Legislature was asked to give the department better financial support. Only 25 per cent of the operating budget is obtained from general tax money, the report said, while the remaining 75 per cent comes from department activities, including 45 per cent from license money from hunters and fishermen.

The report charged commission members have at times gone beyond their policy-making job and have interfered with the administration of the department. On other occasions, commissioners attempted to influence personnnel actions or job appointments, the report said.

The morale of department workers is good, the report said, although there are some problems such as dissatisfaction about car and expense allowances and lack of understanding of department program and policies.

Fire Destroys Flinn Hotel

Twenty-two guests fled in night clothes or with only coats or sweaters over them as the fire spread quickly through partitions between the walls. The fire started at about 5:30 a. m. and was brought under control about 10:30 a. m.

Authorities and the proprietor, Donald Cooper, 40, estimated damage at between $50,000 and $90,000.

The hotel is one black off the main business area on Carpenter Ave. The fire tied up traffic. All available policemen and firemen were put into duty.

Cooper and one of the guests roused other guests when the fire was discovered. The temperature outside was 5 degrees and a light snow was falling.

The three story hotel was one of the oldest buildings in Iron Mountain and was considered a landmark by residents.

Views Heard On Districting

MARQUETTTE (AP) — The Legislative Apportionment Commission heard testimony Monday from seven witnesses representing Upper Peninsula views on reapportionment.

The hearings are to familiarize state residents with House and Senate reapportionment, and to help insure an equitable representation plan under the new state Constitution which takes effect Jan. 1.

Hearings were to resume in Clare today. They move to Grand Rapids Wednesday and conclude Thursday at Detroit's City-County building.

The eight - member committee, including four Democrats and four Republicans, is expected to report on final recommendations to the Michigan Supreme Court Jan. 30.

If five or more members agree, the high court is expected to approve the commission's recommendations, which will apply to the November, 1964, legislative elections.

Conservation Changes Urged To Aid Services

By JEAN WORTH

Governor Romney has announced the findings of his special study committee on the Conservation Department, and the relatively brief news report on the 8 month study's findings points the difficulty of explaining somthing as complex as the Conservation Department simply and quickly.

The public image of the Conservation Department is probably largely one of an agency which controls hunting and fishing in Michigan, but these are only two items in a big program of activities carried on by the Department at a cost of about $18 million a year. It is the guardian of Michigan's natural resources owned by the public and this very description points a problem of today.

The Conservation Department, created in the 1920s by merging some earlier agencies, was originally intended to "conserve" the state's natural resources and this is still a prime function, but today the accent is upon wise "use" of our resources for human benefits. When a public forest area, for instance, becomes more useful as a campground than for the production of timber, very obviously it should become a campground, but even so it can often serve multiple uses, and be, in some areas, both a campground and a wood producing area.

Hunting Regulation

Political criticism of the Conservation Department most often lights on its policies for hunting and fishing and certainly the public hears most about these complaints because of the highly vocal organizations of outdoor sportsmen like the Michigan United Conservation Clubs and the Northern Michigan Sportsmen's Association. But where the Game Division gets 11 per cent of the Department budget, parks get 16 per cent and parks also "free load" on game and fish divisions because their license fees bear such a disproportionate cost of administration of the whole Department.

The Governor's Study was concerned with the complaints of the hunters and fishermen and it was counseled by the Wildlife Management Institute which has studied the conservation departments of more than 30 states, some of them several times. The Governor's Committee urged upon the Governor, Conservation Commission and Legislature the closing of all seasons on wildlife with commission control of hunting seasons and regulations to follow. This has been done effectively in other states.

It is inconceivable that any broad program of wildlife control could be enforced without some public sniping, but the Governor's Committee thought that Michigan's Conservation Department can do much more than it has to explain its reasons for policies to the public. In Missouri, for instance, three years of preparation grooved in the beginning of doe shooting with a maximum of public acceptance and minimum of public protest.

Report Dissent

The committee of 21 persons headed by Robert McLoughlin, vice president of McLouth Steel Corp. and a former Conservation Department official, wasn't unanimous in its beliefs about what's best for the Conservation Department, but, except for a minority report by Dr. Paul Herbert, former head of the School of Natural Resouces at Michigan State University, it agreed on the report and signed it.

The report finds many things that can be improved, but it also finds much excellence in the Department and it cites the high quality of personnel which the Department has been able to employ. But the laws which field service officers must enforce are overlapping and even contradictory and need codification. The structure of the Department (who's responsible to whom?) creaks and organizational expert George Baker, a vice president of Wyandotte Chemical Co., headed a subcommittee which recommended that it be restructured to cut out the clutter which has accumulated in 40 years of Department growth and to clearly define the lines of authority.

The proposed restructuring would locate the planners of the Department staff in Lansing and the executives in the field, in 5 regions of the state. The commission would be restricted to policy formation as its only function. Some commissioners have tried to run the department at times.

New Names Urged

The committeemen soon learned that the Cabots don't speak to the Lodges in some Department divisions; that loyalty to their own division transcends loyalty to the Department in some situations, and that there's been quite a little "empire building" in the divisions. This is wasteful and causes duplication and robs the director of the authority he should have to enforce the policies of the commission.

The study found that the Department isn't bad at all, but that it can be better and that it had better be to cope with the big problems of today and tomorrow, with increasing population expanding the demand for parks, playgrounds, campgrounds, beaches, nature interpration programs, game, forest trails, fishing waters, etc.

There's no magic in the report of the Governor's Committee. It pointed some well known truths and some more obscure ones and it suggested possible solutions to the major problems. The final judgment on the report will be the amount of suggestion which is adopted by the Legislature, Commission and Department.

The committee didn't put a price tag on its suggestions, but it believes that some situations can be phased out without disrupting the department and that it can be set up on a changed basis that will give the state more for the money that it spends on conservation. Its first recommendation was that the name "Department of Conservation" be changed to "Department of Natural Resources" to stress concept of use of our natural resources for maximum human benefit.

Pick Prettiest

Dear Ann: I'm a Kansas high school teacher who did not agree with your reply to the high school student who complained because the rich, well-dressed kids always walk off with the class offices.

I've observed high school elections for several years and he is right. Elections are nothing but popularity contests. Sometimes the popular one also happens to have leadership qualities, but if this is the case, it's only a coincidence.

This year the sophomore class president is a handsome athlete who is so stupid he can't learn the simplest rules of parliamentary procedure. I'm the class advisor and it's a serious problem.

The junior class president is worse. He has big blue eyes, wavy hair, is built like Atlas and doesn't have a brain in his head. The boy is so inept he was unable to make a decent 3-minute welcoming speech at the junior-senior prom. Perhaps in some schools the bright kids are rewarded with the offices, but it doesn't happen here.—CLOSE UP OBSERVER

Dear Close: Most of the readers who commented agreed with you but I'm sticking to my guns.

I have visited many schools and the schools which have the most attractive and capable student leaders tell me that the reason is this: the administration sets high standards of scholarship and achievement for candidates. Wavy hair and blue eyes aren't enough.

It seems to me in the case you cite, the fault lies with the administration for failing to set up the prerequisites for office-seekers.

Dear Ann Landers: I've been married for seven years and I'm still waiting for my first new coat. For a recent special occasion I borrowed a nice black dress from my sister. My mother and I wear the same size shoe, so I borrowed her black crepe pumps. If I have to go to a funeral I borrow a hat from my next door neighbor.

My husband is a nice man in every other way but he has an iron grip on the purse-strings. We have one child and we owe no bills. He makes $10,000 a year. Do you think I am entitled to a clothes allowance? If so, how much should I ask for?

Please hurry your answer, Ann. There is a big party coming up next week.—CINDRELLA'S DOUBLE

Dear Cindy: What did you two talk about before you got married? And what have you been talking about for the last seven years?

Every woman whose husband is employed is entitled to an allowance for clothes. In your case I would say about $500 a year is not too much.

* * *

Dear Ann Landers: I'm 22 and engaged to marry a fellow 24.

Ed and I plan to be married in the spring and the problem is my mother. She wants to run everything. She said when she got married they had a small reception in the back yard and served beer and sandwiches and everybody had a swell time. That was 29 years ago, Ann. My mother doesn't realize times have changed.

I've offered to pay for part of the wedding because I know money is the reason mom insists on a simple affair. She won't hear of it. She says Ed and I need our money for furniture and other household items.

We would rather have no reception than invite friends to have beer and sandwiches in the back yard. Please advise.—C. W. S.

Dear C. W. S.: Tell your mother you want a simple ceremony and no reception — and stick to it. There's no point in a celebration that would only make you and your fiance unhappy.

Icebreaker Atka Loses Propeller In Antarctic

CHRISTCHURCH, New Zealand (AP) — The U.S. Navy icebreaker Atka lost a propeller and shaft while cutting a channel through the ice of Antarctica's McMurdo Sound, the U. S. Navy said.

The Atka was ramming the ice when the shaft snapped forward of the propeller hub. The shaft and propeller sank.

The ship will leave Tuesday for New Zealand under its own power. The icebreakers Glacier and Burton Island will remain to cut the last three miles of the channel for cargo ships to the U.S. expedition's Antarctic headquarters on McMurdo Sound.

Hundreds Lose Local Jobs As Fishery Declines

The decline of the Green Bay fishery and its impact on the economy of Escanaba was reported at the recent meeting on Menominee River pollution held at Menominee by the Public Health Service of the U S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The decline of the fishery was reported in a paper prepared by the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

It said that in 1879 at Escanaba there were 92 men employed in the pound, gill and seine fishery. The grounds fished were almost the whole northern portion of Green Bay and around Washington and St. Martin's Island. Three hundred thousand pounds of fresh fish — mostly whitefish and trout — and 2,300 half-barrels of salt fish were processed in Escanaba in that year.

Between Cedar River and Peshtigo Point some 30 families were engaged in fishing, using mostly pound nets in the summer and gill nets through the bay ice in winter.

Toward the end of the last century lake herring dominated the catch. The following 50 years saw fishing on Lake Michigan and Green Bay not greatly changed. Steam tugs came into general use and were in turn replaced by gas or diesel tugs.

Top Port

The report says, "Escanaba is the most important fishing port on Green Bay. From 1950 to 1958 the annual landings at Escanaba were in excess of 2 million pounds, with peak years in 1955-56 reaching over 3 million pounds. This was approximately 10 per cent of the total Lake Michigan catch for those years. Herring and smelt made up the bulk of the catch.

"The 231,644 pounds of walleye landed in 1951 was 11.3 per cent of the Escanaba total of that year, but it was 41 per cent of the Lake Michigan walleye take. Thirty-seven per cent of the 7.7 million pounds of walleye taken in Lake Michigan from 1947-60 were landed at Escanaba.

"In the past decade smelt have constitutted over half of the Escanaba total. Whitefish landed at Escanaba were important in 1947 and and 1948—40 per cent and 20 per cent of the total, respectively.

"Before 1952 suckers made up at least 10 per cent of the port's total. In 1960 7 per cent of the 1,094,295 pounds total was suckers.

"In the past three years, 1960-62 perch have become an increasingly important part of the catch — 22 per cent, 38.5 per cent and 43.4 per cent. The 1962 landing at Escanaba was 586,527 pounds, half of which were smelt, perch constituting most of the remaining 50 per cent.

Gladstone Take

"The landings at Gladstone have ranged from a low of 86,684 pounds in 1945 to a high of 617,749 pounds in 1958. From 1941 to 1951, suckers and walleyes constituted most of the catch. Since then, smelt have accounted for most of the catch. Walleyes made up 60 per cent in 1956, but in the rest of the period was lower. In very recent years perch have become more important, 32 per cent in 1961.

"As a fishing port, Rapid River has not been important, less than 10,000 pounds a year since 1950 — and none in some years. Suckers have made up the largest part of fish landed there.

"The bulk of the composition of commercial fish landings at Ensign have been suckers and walleyes. The total take has ranged from 205,700 pounds in 1950 down to 22,000 pounds in 1962

"The yearly landings at Stonington have been less than 100,000 pounds and mostly less than 50,000 pounds with only 1,451 pounds in 1961. In late years, smelt have been most important.

"The 14,724 pounds of fish landed at Nahma in 1962 is by far the smallest volume of fish there in many years, 1949 was the peak year when 299,000 pounds were landed. Suckers, walleyes and perch in that order have constituted the bulk of of catch at Nahma. Over 124,000 pounds of walleyes were taken out of Nahma in 1949.

Garden's Part

"Garden is the most important fishing port on Big Bay de Noc. The landings have been mostly above 200,000 pounds per year. The catch composition at Garden is varied, perch, suckers, whitefish and walleye have constituted the bulk. In an occasional year, herring and smelt in sizeable numbers have been caught.

"Whitefish, important before 1954 were virtually missing from the catch from 1955-60, but in 1962 again made up 23 per cent of that year's rather small total of 109,662 pounds. Landings in 1963 of whitefish at Garden have been caught outside of Green Bay. Walleyes during their peak years amounted to over 40 per cent of the total; 235,129 pounds in 1955. In the last three years of record, 1960-62, perch landings were in excess of half of the total.

"At Fayette in September of 1963 there were no active fishermen working from this once important port. Catches of one-half million pounds or more were landed at Fayete from 1948 through 1956. With the end of the herring run in 1957 and of whitefish in 1954 the importance of this port has steadily declined. Only 15,838 pounds were landed in 1962."

Fishery Jobs

Commercial fishing on the Great Lakes has been a source of supplemental employment since the beginning of the industry. Fish are not uniformly distributed either in time or place throughout the year. Most species are concentrated by only their feeding habits or spawning activities. Because of this fishing is at its peak during spring and fall months . . . many license holders fish only in winter, others fish weekends or combine it with farming activities.

In 1950 there were 379 (commercial) licenses issued for Michigan waters of Green Bay and an additional 566 men employed. In 1963 there were 104 commercial fishing licenses issued and in September, 1963 only about one-third of these licenses were in use.

The total value of the Michigan Green Bay catch in 1962 was $149,127, something like $646 per man employer. This is nearly a 30 per cent decline from 1950 when the catch was worth $854,176 and there were 945 licensed fishermen and employed, $902 per man.

Great Abundance

The abundance of fish in the Great Lakes in early years was much greater than even in the closing decades of the last century and before the total number of fish declined there was a marked decrease in the size of fish taken.

The total catch of whitefish on Lake Michigan in 1879 was 12 million pounds. Never again was even half of this total taken in a single year.

In 1860 one fisherman fishing in Bay de Noc with two small pound nets (18 and 20 feet deep and 28 x 32 feet square) took 175,000 pounds of whitefish in 45 days.

Three thousand nets were lost because of storms in a single fall from the entrance of Green Bay carrying 500,000 to 600,000 whitefish with them.

"Man and his activities have done most to change the commercial fishery," says the report, "fishing itself has probably been most significant.

"Aside from fishing, and perhaps in the long run most important, has been man's role in changing the Great Lakes environment. In one half century, 1830-1880, the changes brought about in the Great Lakes basin were very profound. The southern half went almost completely into agriculture, the northern half was mostly logged off, millions of acres were artificially drained, canals and waterways dredged.

"During the same era great industrial cities rose along the lakes and all used lake water for municipal and industrial waste assimilation.

"Perhaps the most destructive of lake fish habitat in immediate effect was the dumping of sawdust into a few restricted but highly productive areas, including Green Bay.

"Beach erosion goes on virtually unchecked, contributing millions of tons of oxygen-demanding sediment to the lake bottom.

"The decline of the Green Bay fishery (and the Great Lakes in general) has resulted from two main causes — the failing of the basic supply of marketable fish, and a distinctly limited demand for fresh water fish.

Trout Stocking Gains Benefit Peninsula Lakes

By KENNETH S. LOWE

The total is well over a million above last year's 5,127,128 eggs.

The total has increased every year since the hatchery began collecting lake trout eggs in 1954, when 17,160 were taken. The big jump occurred in 1960, when 2,420,116 eggs were collected from female lakers, nearly five times the 485,990 taken in the previous year.

Reason for the big increase in 1960, said Russ Robertson, hatchery superintendent, is that a large number (about 1,000 of females "came ripe" — that is reached maturity at six or seven years of age — in 1960.

Robertson predicts the number of eggs collected at the hatchery here will continue to increase. "We will be shooting for 10 million eggs or more in another year or two," he said.

Part of the reason for his optimism lies in the success the hatchery crew has had with using the so-called "Australian method" for obtaining sperm to fertilize the eggs. The method was used at the hatchery for the first time last year.

Australian Method

Prior to use of the Australian method, hatchery crews squeezed the sperm directly from male lake trout into pans of eggs to fertilize them.

The Australian method permits sperm to be collected by siphoning it directly from the fish into small vials. The vials are kept iced and the sperm thus can be used any time within 24 hours with good success.

Robertson said this has many advantages.

First, the sperm from one male may now be used to fertilize the eggs of five or six females. Using the old technique, the ratio was one male to one female and, sometimes, two males to one female.

Second, the hatchery has been able to cut back the number of male brood stock trout that it must hold. Theoretically, the number of males six years old and older can be reduced by four-fifths because 500 males can now be used to fertilize the eggs of between 2,500 and 3,000 females, whereas 2,500 males would be required for that purpose if the old method were still employed.

Surplus Of Males

Thus the hatchery found itself with a surplus of males, and these are being planted in inland lakes of the Upper Peninsula for sports fishing. Last year 2,700 surplus males weighing between two and five pounds were planted in U.P. lakes, and another 1,700 are scheduled to be released this fall.

Third, the reduction in the number of males has resulted in additional space at the hatchery for up and coming brood stock — those under six years of age.

Fourth, the Australian method has eliminated ferquent handling of males to determine if they are ready to spawn.

The hatchery's total brood stock of lakers now amounts to 3,373 females and about 600 males.

Superior Planted

Of the 6,568,976 eggs collected and fertilized from that number of fish this fall, 800,000 eyed eggs were shipped to the Wisconsin Department of Conservation for hatching, rearing and later release in Lake Superior to help restock that body of water with lake trout.

Another 500,000 eyed eggs wrre shipped to the Minnesota Department of Conservation for the same purpose, and 3,500,000 of the remaining hatched lake trout will be transferred next June to the U.S. Fish Hatchery at Pendill's Creek in Chippewa County for further rearing and later release in Lake Superior.

Robertson is optimistic about the eventual restocking of lakers in the Great Lakes, but he's still seeking to get greater production of trout eggs at the Marquette hatchery. Spurred by the success of the Australian method of collecting sperm, he is now looking into the possibility of applying another Australian technique — air spawning — to the collection of eggs in hopes that the hatchery can eliminate manual stripping of female lakers just as it has eliminated manual stripping of male fish.

Gardening Wins Scholarship For Coed At MSU

CHICAGO (AP)—A Michigan State University coed won a $500 4-H Club scholarship Monday for her excellence in gardening.

The award went to Arlene Schlosser, 18, of Fairgrove, who in eight years of 4-H gardening has grown more than 100 varieties of vegetables and 209 varieties of flowers.

Miss Schlosser, daughter of a Tuscola County farmer, John Schlosser, was one of six in the nation to win the $500 gardening scholarship at the 42nd National 4-H Club Congress.

Glen Sparks, 16, of Cassopolis, earlier won a $500 college scholarship for his work in field crops. Glen was cited for minimum tillage, proper timing in planting, use of fertilizers, and improved crop varieties.

Ishpeming Gets 4-Inch Snowfall

ISHPEMING—Up to 10 Saturday morning, four inches of new snow had fallen in Ishpeming and the surrounding area.

City plows were in operation early, but the light accumulation of snow did not hamper driving in the city. Sand trucks also were in operation in the downtown area, where streets are coated with a light layer of ice.

Mushroom Guide Offered By U-M

ANN ARBOR -- The safest way to identify a mushroom for eating is to use a microscope.

The next best thing is to buy "The Mushroom Hunter's Field Guide," by Alexander H. Smith, published by the University of Michigan Press.

First published in 1958 the guide established itself as the foremost handbook on the hunting and collecting of wild mushrooms.

A revised and enlarged edition (324 pp., 06.95), enriched by 89 new color plates plus 243 black and white photographs, has just been published.

The handsome, pocket-shaped book has been enlarged to include descriptions of 188 species. It tells when, where, and how to find edible mushrooms. It tells how to avoid poisonous ones.

People who appreciate the mushroom as a choice food, a natural delicacy of the field, will find the book indispensable.

The author is a professor of botany at Michigan and director of the University Herbarium. He writes:

"For years I refused to write a field guide to the common edible and poisonous mushrooms, because field characteristice alone are not sufficient for accurate recognition of our native species. This is still true, but another factor has caused me to change my attitude.

"During the course of more than 20 years as a student of mushrooms, I have realized that many people persist in collecting fleshy fungi for food who do not or will not follow the procedures leading to a scientifically accurate identification of the plants. In conversation such people almost invariably ask me if there is any book that will serve as a field guide to mushrooms."

While no field guide will enable a layman to make scientifically accurate identifications of all species, a well-devised work can protect against some serious mistakes, Smith explains. His book has this purpose.

The author warns that there are no practical tests which will enable the layman to distinguish "good" mushrooms from "bad" toadstools:

"The idea that there are such tests is the worst booby trap into which a collector can fall . . . The only safe approach is to know the different kinds just as you learn to distinguish between the different kinds of fruits and vegetables."

Hundreds Lose Local Jobs As Fishery Declines

The decline of the Green Bay fishery and its impact on the economy of Escanaba was reported at the recent meeting on Menominee River pollution held at Menominee by the Public Health Service of the U S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The decline of the fishery was reported in a paper prepared by the Michigan Water Resources Commission.

It said that in 1879 at Escanaba there were 92 men employed in the pound, gill and seine fishery. The grounds fished were almost the whole northern portion of Green Bay and around Washington and St. Martin's Island. Three hundred thousand pounds of fresh fish — mostly whitefish and trout — and 2,300 half-barrels of salt fish were processed in Escanaba in that year.

Between Cedar River and Peshtigo Point some 30 families were engaged in fishing, using mostly pound nets in the summer and gill nets through the bay ice in winter.

Toward the end of the last century lake herring dominated the catch. The following 50 years saw fishing on Lake Michigan and Green Bay not greatly changed. Steam tugs came into general use and were in turn replaced by gas or diesel tugs.

Top Port

The report says, "Escanaba is the most important fishing port on Green Bay. From 1950 to 1958 the annual landings at Escanaba were in excess of 2 million pounds, with peak years in 1955-56 reaching over 3 million pounds. This was approximately 10 per cent of the total Lake Michigan catch for those years. Herring and smelt made up the bulk of the catch.

"The 231,644 pounds of walleye landed in 1951 was 11.3 per cent of the Escanaba total of that year, but it was 41 per cent of the Lake Michigan walleye take. Thirty-seven per cent of the 7.7 million pounds of walleye taken in Lake Michigan from 1947-60 were landed at Escanaba.

"In the past decade smelt have constitutted over half of the Escanaba total. Whitefish landed at Escanaba were important in 1947 and and 1948—40 per cent and 20 per cent of the total, respectively.

"Before 1952 suckers made up at least 10 per cent of the port's total. In 1960 7 per cent of the 1,094,295 pounds total was suckers.

"In the past three years, 1960-62 perch have become an increasingly important part of the catch — 22 per cent, 38.5 per cent and 43.4 per cent. The 1962 landing at Escanaba was 586,527 pounds, half of which were smelt, perch constituting most of the remaining 50 per cent.

Gladstone Take

"The landings at Gladstone have ranged from a low of 86,684 pounds in 1945 to a high of 617,749 pounds in 1958. From 1941 to 1951, suckers and walleyes constituted most of the catch. Since then, smelt have accounted for most of the catch. Walleyes made up 60 per cent in 1956, but in the rest of the period was lower. In very recent years perch have become more important, 32 per cent in 1961.

"As a fishing port, Rapid River has not been important, less than 10,000 pounds a year since 1950 — and none in some years. Suckers have made up the largest part of fish landed there.

"The bulk of the composition of commercial fish landings at Ensign have been suckers and walleyes. The total take has ranged from 205,700 pounds in 1950 down to 22,000 pounds in 1962

"The yearly landings at Stonington have been less than 100,000 pounds and mostly less than 50,000 pounds with only 1,451 pounds in 1961. In late years, smelt have been most important.

"The 14,724 pounds of fish landed at Nahma in 1962 is by far the smallest volume of fish there in many years, 1949 was the peak year when 299,000 pounds were landed. Suckers, walleyes and perch in that order have constituted the bulk of of catch at Nahma. Over 124,000 pounds of walleyes were taken out of Nahma in 1949.

Garden's Part

"Garden is the most important fishing port on Big Bay de Noc. The landings have been mostly above 200,000 pounds per year. The catch composition at Garden is varied, perch, suckers, whitefish and walleye have constituted the bulk. In an occasional year, herring and smelt in sizeable numbers have been caught.

"Whitefish, important before 1954 were virtually missing from the catch from 1955-60, but in 1962 again made up 23 per cent of that year's rather small total of 109,662 pounds. Landings in 1963 of whitefish at Garden have been caught outside of Green Bay. Walleyes during their peak years amounted to over 40 per cent of the total; 235,129 pounds in 1955. In the last three years of record, 1960-62, perch landings were in excess of half of the total.

"At Fayette in September of 1963 there were no active fishermen working from this once important port. Catches of one-half million pounds or more were landed at Fayete from 1948 through 1956. With the end of the herring run in 1957 and of whitefish in 1954 the importance of this port has steadily declined. Only 15,838 pounds were landed in 1962."

The total value of the Michigan Green Bay catch in 1962 was $149,127, something like $646 per man employer. This is nearly a 30 per cent decline from 1950 when the catch was worth $854,176 and there were 945 licensed fishermen and employed, $902 per man.

Great Abundance

The abundance of fish in the Great Lakes in early years was much greater than even in the closing decades of the last century and before the total number of fish declined there was a marked decrease in the size of fish taken.

The total catch of whitefish on Lake Michigan in 1879 was 12 million pounds. Never again was even half of this total taken in a single year.

In 1860 one fisherman fishing in Bay de Noc with two small pound nets (18 and 20 feet deep and 28 x 32 feet square) took 175,000 pounds of whitefish in 45 days.

Three thousand nets were lost because of storms in a single fall from the entrance of Green Bay carrying 500,000 to 600,000 whitefish with them.

Trout Stocking Gains Benefit Peninsula Lakes

By KENNETH S. LOWE

The total is well over a million above last year's 5,127,128 eggs.

The total has increased every year since the hatchery began collecting lake trout eggs in 1954, when 17,160 were taken. The big jump occurred in 1960, when 2,420,116 eggs were collected from female lakers, nearly five times the 485,990 taken in the previous year.

Reason for the big increase in 1960, said Russ Robertson, hatchery superintendent, is that a large number (about 1,000 of females "came ripe" — that is reached maturity at six or seven years of age — in 1960.

Robertson predicts the number of eggs collected at the hatchery here will continue to increase. "We will be shooting for 10 million eggs or more in another year or two," he said.

Part of the reason for his optimism lies in the success the hatchery crew has had with using the so-called "Australian method" for obtaining sperm to fertilize the eggs. The method was used at the hatchery for the first time last year.

Australian Method

Prior to use of the Australian method, hatchery crews squeezed the sperm directly from male lake trout into pans of eggs to fertilize them.

The Australian method permits sperm to be collected by siphoning it directly from the fish into small vials. The vials are kept iced and the sperm thus can be used any time within 24 hours with good success.

Robertson said this has many advantages.

First, the sperm from one male may now be used to fertilize the eggs of five or six females. Using the old technique, the ratio was one male to one female and, sometimes, two males to one female.

Second, the hatchery has been able to cut back the number of male brood stock trout that it must hold. Theoretically, the number of males six years old and older can be reduced by four-fifths because 500 males can now be used to fertilize the eggs of between 2,500 and 3,000 females, whereas 2,500 males would be required for that purpose if the old method were still employed.

Surplus Of Males

Thus the hatchery found itself with a surplus of males, and these are being planted in inland lakes of the Upper Peninsula for sports fishing. Last year 2,700 surplus males weighing between two and five pounds were planted in U.P. lakes, and another 1,700 are scheduled to be released this fall.

Third, the reduction in the number of males has resulted in additional space at the hatchery for up and coming brood stock — those under six years of age.

Fourth, the Australian method has eliminated ferquent handling of males to determine if they are ready to spawn.

Superior Planted

Of the 6,568,976 eggs collected and fertilized from that number of fish this fall, 800,000 eyed eggs were shipped to the Wisconsin Department of Conservation for hatching, rearing and later release in Lake Superior to help restock that body of water with lake trout.

Another 500,000 eyed eggs wrre shipped to the Minnesota Department of Conservation for the same purpose, and 3,500,000 of the remaining hatched lake trout will be transferred next June to the U.S. Fish Hatchery at Pendill's Creek in Chippewa County for further rearing and later release in Lake Superior.

Robertson is optimistic about the eventual restocking of lakers in the Great Lakes, but he's still seeking to get greater production of trout eggs at the Marquette hatchery. Spurred by the success of the Australian method of collecting sperm, he is now looking into the possibility of applying another Australian technique — air spawning — to the collection of eggs in hopes that the hatchery can eliminate manual stripping of female lakers just as it has eliminated manual stripping of male fish.

Civil Defense Parley Friday

The second of a series of one-day civil defense conferences will be held Friday, Dec. 6 at Escanaba for officials of six Upper Peninsula counties.

Invitations to attend have been issued by Governor Romney to mayors, members of the boards of supervisors, civil defense officials, and other executives of Alger, Delta, Dickinson, Marquette, Menominee and Schoolcraft. The meeting will be held at the House of Ludington.

Purpose of the conference is to review civil defense programs and emphasize the responsibility of local government in civil defense preparedness and action.

Speakers will include Prof. Leon Weaver, Michgan State University, Russell Jenkins, also of the MSU; and State Police Capt. Richard Nicolen, deputy state director of civil defense. The conference will be welcomed by Charles Sedenquist, chairman of the Delta County Board of Supervisors, with Mayor Vanlerberghe, of Escanaba, co-chairman.

The series is sponsored by the State Civil Defense Division of the State Police, Michigan State University, and other publicly supported Michigan colleges and universities.

The first conference was held in Battle Creek with representatives of 12 southwestern counties. Several others also will be conducted in other regions of the state.

United States Pulls Troops From Viet Nam

SAIGON, Viet Nam (AP) — The United States started pulling 1,000 troops out of South Viet Nam today.

A total of 15,500 U.S. military personnel will remain in Viet Nam, but authoritative American sources reported that their gradual withdrawal may begin early next year.

Plans Outlined To Trim Costs Of Government

Committee, said in a sepa5ate interview he is convinced uch cuts can be made.

But he said that to reach any impressive figure they would have to include some reductions in military and space outlays—reductions Johnson resisted in the past.

Like Dirksen, Byrd said he was waiting to see how the new budget will shape up.

The late President had been attempting to keep down the annual increases of about $5 billion in spending that occurred in the budgets since he took office.

Museum May Get Death Car

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bubble - top limousine used by President John F. Kennedy on the day he was assassinated may end up in the Henry Ford Museum at Dearborn.

The Ford Motor Co., which leases the luxury vehicle to the Federal Government for $500 a year, is expected to have the limousine returned should President Johnson decide not to use it.

The automobile is reported in perfect condition, but Johnson may decide not to ride in it because it is directly associated with the Kennnedy tragedy at Dallas Nov. 22.

The specially built car has been gone over by experts, seeking bullet fragments and other evidence. The only sign of damage is an unexplained hole in the windshield.

The navy blue vehicle was designed by Lincoln Continental in 1961. A sister car, the Lincoln "Sunshine Special" used from 1939 to 1950 by Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, is now at the Dearborn museum.

The 1961 limousine has three roofs — the six - section removable bubble-top, a three-section steel top and a conventional fabric roof. All three were stored in the trunk at the time of Kennedy's assassination.

View Colored Slides Of West

Members of the Escanaba Lions Club viewed colored slides of a trip through the western United States, which was recently made by Mr. and Mrs. John Lasnoski, when they met Monday evening at the Sherman Hotel. Lasnoski narrated the program.

It was also disclosed that rules for the Christmas lighting program will soon be announced.

Lee Wiles, chairman of the U. P. Lions Club Bowling Tournament, which will be held in Escanaba this year, informed members that in the near future invitations will be mailed out.

An invitation was also extended to anyone wishing to join the Lions Club in donating Christmas gifts for the patients at the Newberry State Hospital. Gifts designated for this purpose may be delivered to the Manning Shoe Store on or before Dec. 15.

It was suggested that the gifts be wrapped and clearly marked as to contents, whether it is for male or female, and the size if applicable.

Charge Woman With Assault

Mrs. Bertha Wojcik of Rte. 1, Wilson entered a plea of not guilty and posted a $1,000 bond to assure appearance for trial Dec. 6 in the Menominee County Court House when arraigned before Justice Emil Ewald in Menominee last week on a charge of felonious assault without intent to do bodily harm.

Mrs. Wojcik was arrested by Menominee County sheriff officers on a complaint by Clarence Mason Jr. 22, of Menominee, charging that Mrs. Wojcik fired on him while he was hunting near her home. Mason told officers the bullet narrowly missed hitting him in the head.

Sheriff's officers said that the Mason family has a camp near the Wojcik farm, but that at the time of the shooting incident Mason was not on the Wojcik property.

Trial of Mrs. Wojcik has been set for 2:30 p. m. Dec. 6 before Justice Emil Ewald. Sheriff's officers said that there had been similar incidents involving Mrs. Wojcik, but that no complaints had been made.

Lesinski May Be Candidate For Governor

job as lacking in sufficient challenge.

Neither has formally announced his candidacy but both have indicated they'll announce their intentions around the end of this year.

Although the Democratic party still bears the scars of a factional split at the spring convention this year, Lesinski said he would not be concerned about the effect of a primary election on the party.

"I certainly don't want to subscribe to the idea that candidates are picked in a cloakroom or some hotel room and then presented as the choice of the party," he said.

"A primary will tend to interest far more people and ultimately, the party will benefit as a result. Historically, this has been true."

Ruling Backs Car Search Ban

LANSING (AP) — Invoking the State Constitution's ban against unreasonable search and seizure, the Michigan Supreme Court Monday set aside a Detroit conviction for possession of narcotics.

"It is distasteful, indeed, to have to disregard the fact that the respondent here possessed narcotics," wrote Justice Michael O'Hara for the entire court.

"But we cannot permit a state statute aimed at control of the operation of unsafe vehicles to be utilized ... as a device to supply probable cause ... to enter a motor vehicle," O'Hara wrote.

Officers who arrested Willie James Lee in Detroit Feb. 12, 1962, were on a vice detail when they allegedly stopped Lee's car because its license plate was bent and illegible.

They entered the car to check the brakes, one officer testified. Marijuana cigarettes were found in the car, police said.

Lee subsequently was convicted by Recorders Judge Arthur Koscinski of possession of narcotics, in a trial in which the marijuana was entered as evidence.

Another constitutional rights question divided the court 4 - 4 Monday, allowing the first degree murder conviction of Lee Del Walker, before Recorders Judge John Ricca in Detroit, to stand.

Society Offers Device To Feed Cancer Patients

The Delta County Cancer Society will provide a food pump to any cancer patient in the area needing such a device, it was announced today by Robert Escen, Cancer Society president, after a meeting last night in the Chamber of Commerce building.

The pumps are used by patients who are unable to chew or swallow food or who have had their stomachs surgically removed. The device forces food under pressure into the lower stomach or upper bowel at a controlled rate of flow.

Persons in need of this or other type of equipment for cancer patient care are asked to contact Mrs. Robert Storbeck, Escanaba, or any Cancer Society volunteer.

Law Officers To Elect Thursday

Upper Peninsula Law Enforcement Officers will meet at Munising on Thursday in annual session at which officers will be elected for the ensuing year.

Harold Finman, Escanaba police chief and Law Association president, will conduct the meeting.

Officers attending from this area besides Chief Finman will be Sgt. Hugh Pope, Michigan State Police, and Police Chief Carroll Johnson, Gladstone; and Undersheriff Joseph Hillewaert, Escanaba.

Mrs. Thurley Johnson of 919 Sheridan Road and Mrs. Hazel Bonifas, 1313 Minneapolis Ave. Gladstone, both left today for Green Bay where they will enter St. Vincent's Hospital.

Fish Industry Plight Studied

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Agriculture Commission Monday reviewed the state's fish industry situation and the Agriculture Department's processing guidelines aimed at preventing any further occurrences of Type E botulism.

The commmission took no new action on the situation. A commission spokesman said all reports have indicated the fish processing industry still is suffering because of the botulism scare.

"A great deal more research will need to be done before the public is reassured," the spokesman said.

Commissioners also heard a progress report on the Japanese beetle treatment program in Calhoun County. Some 9,000 acres have been treated, the spokesman said, and the remaining 3,000 will be treated before the end of the month if the weather permits.

Lynda Bird Has Guard In Class

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Secret Service agents assigned to protect President Johnson's 19-year-old daughter at the University of Texas may find the duty more rewarding than expected.

A friend of Lynda Bird Johnson's quoted her as saying Monday in her dormitory room with reference to the agent who accompanied her to classes:

"He sits in the class and seems very interested. He's learning things too."

A sophomore in the School of Arts and Sciences, Miss Johnson returned to classes Monday with more than 20,000 other students at the university.

She was taken from her dormitory by Secret Service agents Nov. 22 immediately after the President was shot in Dallas. Agents took her to the governor's mansion in Austin for protection. She attended the funeral services in Washington with her family and returned to Austin Sunday.

Lynda Bird's close friends—Merry Nell Van Fleet, 18, a freshman student from San Antonio—said the Johnsons' eldest daughter had not been appreciably changed by the swift turn of events.

"She's taking it all in stride," Miss Van Fleet said.

At least three Secret Service agents have been detailed to guard Miss Johnson. She lives with 800 other women students in a university-operated dormitory.

Danish Princess Will Wed Greek Crown Prince

LONDON (AP) — A source close to the Greek throne says Crown Prince Constantine will marry Princess Anna-Marie of Denmark in January 1965.

"I don't think the actual date has been decided upon, but it should be sometime between the first part and the middle of January," the informant said. The wedding will take place in Athens.

The engagement of the Prince, 23, and the Princess, 17, was announced last January.

Final plans will be made at this time. The ladies of Sacred Heart Circle and St. Anthony's Circle are in carge of the Christmas party.

Oswald Was Lone Assassin, Report Reveals

nightclub owner who broke through a crowd of spectators and killed the prisoner two days later, as Oswald was about to be transferred from police headquarters in the Dallas City Hall to the county jail.

The FBI report will be the basic raw material for the Warren commission, but President Johnson instructed it to evaluate "all available information" and empowered it to "conduct any further investigation it deems desirable."

This could include information in the hands of Texas authorities. The state's attorney general, Waggoner Carr, has offered full cooperation with the Warren probe.

In Dallas, Carr said Monday the state inquiry will be delayed until the FBI reports, and in any case will not start before next week.

Official sources indicate the FBI still is working on its report. The basic document is ready, but agents Monday still were tracking down belated tips, reports and rumors to make sure that no leads were overlooked.

The report has been described as a narrative in minute detail.

It was considered likely that some portions dealing with Jack Ruby might be withheld for the present, since he is facing trial for Oswald's shooting.

Train Derailed On Long Island; 20 Persons Hurt

BROOKHAVEN, N.Y. (AP)—Five cars of a Long Island Rail Road commuter train jumped the tracks early today, one car overturning. Twenty persons suffered minor injuries.

Brookhaven Memorial Hpspital reported only two of the 20 taken there were immediately admitted.

One man, Peter Scimeca, of Mastic, suffered a heart attack. Joseph Freisei of Mastic Beach was admitted with back and shoulder injuries.

There was no immediate explanation of what derailed the cars.

The 13-car train was en route from Speonk in Nassau County to Jamaica, Queens, a transfer point for New York City commuters.

The train was carrying 30 passengers and had made two stops, at Center Moriches and Shirley, when it derailed at about 6 a.m.

Freighters Burn In Collision Near Montreal

MONTREAL (AP)—Two saltwater freighters caught fire early today after colliding under a full moon in the St. Lawrence River off Montreal. One sailor suffered a minor arm injury.

Tugs working in the glare of searchlights plucked 28 seamen from the 4,490-ton Norwegian freighter Lionel while flames shot into the air and smoke curled over the harbor. The fire was extinguished after three hours.

The fire aboard the 9,790-ton British ship Manchester Merchant was doused in less than two hours. The ship was towed to a berth with her crew of 35 still aboard. The Lionel was anchored in midstream but the Transport Department said she would not interfere with shipping.

The ships collided just east of the Jacques Cartier Bridge between Montreal Island and the south shore of the river.

There was no immediate information on the circumstances of the collision.

Khrushchev And Finn Chief Bag Bucks And Boars

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev and his guest, President Urho Kekkoenen of Finland, each got an elk buck and a boar on a weekend hunt in a forest reserve northwest of Moscow, a Finnish Embassy attache reports.

The two executives were back in Moscow today and had a long talk at the Kremlin. The subject of their conversation wasn't disclosed.

Fire Destroys Reed City Bar

REED CITY (AP)— Damages were placed at $25,000 after a fire Monday destroyed a two-story bar and living quarters in the business district here. Fire Chief Hilding Melberg believed a faulty space heater in the upper living quarters caused the blaze at the tavern. He said damages totaling $18,000 were reported by owners of a drug store, a shoe store and the city's Masonic Temple near the fire scene.

SCD Meeting Set Wednesday

The semi-annual meeting of Soil Conservation Districts of the Upper Peninsula will be held at the Dells Supper Club starting at 10 a. m., Wednesday. About 80 persons are expected to attend.

Dan Barron of the Delta County Soil Conservation District will be chairman of the meeting at which the program feature will be an illustrated talk by Sherwood Trotter, U. S. Forest Service supervisor. Trotter's topic will be "Recreation On Your Land."

Reports on soil conservation programs, current and future in the Upper Peninsula, will be presented by Don Thurlow, Marquette, of the Extension Service, and Del Meister, Marquette, area conservationist, SCS.

Progress reports on watershed activities in the various districts will also be presented.

Secret Service Agent Cited For Bravery

Meanwhile, the House passed Monday and sent to the Senate a bill that would give her Secret Service protection for at least another year.

The measure would also authorize the payment of expenses for the late President's funeral and would give Mrs. Kennedy free mailing privileges for life.

Office and secretarial help would be provided for six months at $50,000.

Since the assassination, Mrs. Kennedy has received almost 300,000 letters and 90,000 telegrams. And "bags and bags" of mail is said still to be uncounted.

Monday, Mrs. Kennedy expressed her appreciation for the thousands of condolence messages from all over the world.

Speaking for her, presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger said Mrs. Kennedy hoped everyone would understand "how much she regrets not being able to respond to each of these messages which have meant so much to her."

Chips And Splinters

Contributions To Chips Welcomed

Among the prized possessions of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Frasher, 716 S. 19th St., is a picture of their daughter Joan and her family with President John F. Kennedy.

Joan's husband, Henry Koerner, the famed portrait artist of Pittsburgh, painted John F. Kennedy for front cover use on Time Magazine when Mr. Kennedy was a U. S. Senator from Massachusetts. He became acquainted with Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln, the President's secretary, during the 10 days of that commission for Time and when his family later asked if they could meet the President he asked Mrs. Lincoln for an appointment and she arranged one.

The President arranged for a photographer to picture the Koerners and their children, Joseph Leo and Stephanie and himself in his study and he gave them copies of the photograph.

Koerner has also painted Attorney General Robert Kennedy for Time. The pictures are in Time's art collection, parts of which are on tour, sometimes with Koerner as host.

Former Resident, George Sharkey, Taken By Death

MENOMINEE — George Sharkey, 68, of 1600 32nd Ave., Menominee, a former resident of Escanaba, died suddenly at his home about 10:30 a. m. today.

Mr. Sharkey was born Oct. 22, 1895 in Gould City. He married the former Agnes Drehmer of Escanaba in July of 1919. Following their marriage the couple moved to Lathrop where they lived until 1958. They moved to Menominee about three years ago upon Mr. Sharkey's retirement.

He was a member of the Elks Lodge. In his later years he was employed by the Atlas Plywood Co. of Gladstone.

Surviving, in addition to his wife, are three step-daughters, Mrs. Paul Schneider of Marquette, Mrs. Mike Larsh of Clarkston, Mich. and Mrs. Donald Duke of Washington, D. C.; three sisters, Mrs. George Poupard of Iron Mountain, Miss Rose Sharkey, also of Iron Mountain and Miss Flora Sharkey of Detroit; three brothers, Arthur of Wilson, Eugene of Iron Mountain and Bert of Norway; and one grandchild.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Thursday from the Cadieu Funeral Home in Menominee. Burial will be in Gardens of Rest Cemetery, Escanaba.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p. m. Wednesday.

Plans Outlined To Trim Costs Of Government

Committee, said in a sepa5ate interview he is convinced uch cuts can be made.

But he said that to reach any impressive figure they would have to include some reductions in military and space outlays—reductions Johnson resisted in the past.

Like Dirksen, Byrd said he was waiting to see how the new budget will shape up.

The late President had been attempting to keep down the annual increases of about $5 billion in spending that occurred in the budgets since he took office.

Museum May Get Death Car

WASHINGTON (AP) — The bubble - top limousine used by President John F. Kennedy on the day he was assassinated may end up in the Henry Ford Museum at Dearborn.

The Ford Motor Co., which leases the luxury vehicle to the Federal Government for $500 a year, is expected to have the limousine returned should President Johnson decide not to use it.

The automobile is reported in perfect condition, but Johnson may decide not to ride in it because it is directly associated with the Kennedy tragedy at Dallas Nov. 22.

The specially built car has been gone over by experts, seeking bullet fragments and other evidence. The only sign of damage is an unexplained hole in the windshield.

The navy blue vehicle was designed by Lincoln Continental in 1961. A sister car, the Lincoln "Sunshine Special" used from 1939 to 1950 by Presidents Roosevelt and Truman, is now at the Dearborn museum.

The 1961 limousine has three roofs — the six - section removable bubble-top, a three-section steel top and a conventional fabric roof. All three were stored in the trunk at the time of Kennedy's assassination.

View Colored Slides Of West

Members of the Escanaba Lions Club viewed colored slides of a trip through the western United States, which was recently made by Mr. and Mrs. John Lasnoski, when they met Monday evening at the Sherman Hotel. Lasnoski narrated the program.

It was also disclosed that rules for the Christmas lighting program will soon be announced.

Lee Wiles, chairman of the U. P. Lions Club Bowling Tournament, which will be held in Escanaba this year, informed members that in the near future invitations will be mailed out.

An invitation was also extended to anyone wishing to join the Lions Club in donating Christmas gifts for the patients at the Newberry State Hospital. Gifts designated for this purpose may be delivered to the Manning Shoe Store on or before Dec. 15.

It was suggested that the gifts be wrapped and clearly marked as to contents, whether it is for male or female, and the size if applicable.

Charge Woman With Assault

Mrs. Bertha Wojcik of Rte. 1, Wilson entered a plea of not guilty and posted a $1,000 bond to assure appearance for trial Dec. 6 in the Menominee County Court House when arraigned before Justice Emil Ewald in Menominee last week on a charge of felonious assault without intent to do bodily harm.

Mrs. Wojcik was arrested by Menominee County sheriff officers on a complaint by Clarence Mason Jr. 22, of Menominee, charging that Mrs. Wojcik fired on him while he was hunting near her home. Mason told officers the bullet narrowly missed hitting him in the head.

Sheriff's officers said that the Mason family has a camp near the Wojcik farm, but that at the time of the shooting incident Mason was not on the Wojcik property.

Trial of Mrs. Wojcik has been set for 2:30 p. m. Dec. 6 before Justice Emil Ewald. Sheriff's officers said that there had been similar incidents involving Mrs. Wojcik, but that no complaints had been made.

Lesinski May Be Candidate For Governor

job as lacking in sufficient challenge.

Neither has formally announced his candidacy but both have indicated they'll announce their intentions around the end of this year.

Although the Democratic party still bears the scars of a factional split at the spring convention this year, Lesinski said he would not be concerned about the effect of a primary election on the party.

"I certainly don't want to subscribe to the idea that candidates are picked in a cloakroom or some hotel room and then presented as the choice of the party," he said.

"A primary will tend to interest far more people and ultimately, the party will benefit as a result. Historically, this has been true."

Ruling Backs Car Search Ban

LANSING (AP) — Invoking the State Constitution's ban against unreasonable search and seizure, the Michigan Supreme Court Monday set aside a Detroit conviction for possession of narcotics.

"It is distasteful, indeed, to have to disregard the fact that the respondent here possessed narcotics," wrote Justice Michael O'Hara for the entire court.

"But we cannot permit a state statute aimed at control of the operation of unsafe vehicles to be utilized ... as a device to supply probable cause ... to enter a motor vehicle," O'Hara wrote.

Officers who arrested Willie James Lee in Detroit Feb. 12, 1962, were on a vice detail when they allegedly stopped Lee's car because its license plate was bent and illegible.

They entered the car to check the brakes, one officer testified. Marijuana cigarettes were found in the car, police said.

Lee subsequently was convicted by Recorders Judge Arthur Koscinski of possession of narcotics, in a trial in which the marijuana was entered as evidence.

Another constitutional rights question divided the court 4 - 4 Monday, allowing the first degree murder conviction of Lee Del Walker, before Recorders Judge John Ricca in Detroit, to stand.

Society Offers Device To Feed Cancer Patients

The Delta County Cancer Society will provide a food pump to any cancer patient in the area needing such a device, it was announced today by Robert Escen, Cancer Society president, after a meeting last night in the Chamber of Commerce building.

The pumps are used by patients who are unable to chew or swallow food or who have had their stomachs surgically removed. The device forces food under pressure into the lower stomach or upper bowel at a controlled rate of flow.

Persons in need of this or other type of equipment for cancer patient care are asked to contact Mrs. Robert Storbeck, Escanaba, or any Cancer Society volunteer.

Law Officers To Elect Thursday

Upper Peninsula Law Enforcement Officers will meet at Munising on Thursday in annual session at which officers will be elected for the ensuing year.

Harold Finman, Escanaba police chief and Law Association president, will conduct the meeting.

Hospital

Fish Industry Plight Studied

LANSING (AP) — Michigan's Agriculture Commission Monday reviewed the state's fish industry situation and the Agriculture Department's processing guidelines aimed at preventing any further occurrences of Type E botulism.

The commmission took no new action on the situation. A commission spokesman said all reports have indicated the fish processing industry still is suffering because of the botulism scare.

"A great deal more research will need to be done before the public is reassured," the spokesman said.

Commissioners also heard a progress report on the Japanese beetle treatment program in Calhoun County. Some 9,000 acres have been treated, the spokesman said, and the remaining 3,000 will be treated before the end of the month if the weather permits.

Lynda Bird Has Guard In Class

AUSTIN, Tex. (AP) — Secret Service agents assigned to protect President Johnson's 19-year-old daughter at the University of Texas may find the duty more rewarding than expected.

A friend of Lynda Bird Johnson's quoted her as saying Monday in her dormitory room with reference to the agent who accompanied her to classes:

A sophomore in the School of Arts and Sciences, Miss Johnson returned to classes Monday with more than 20,000 other students at the university.

She was taken from her dormitory by Secret Service agents Nov. 22 immediately after the President was shot in Dallas. Agents took her to the governor's mansion in Austin for protection. She attended the funeral services in Washington with her family and returned to Austin Sunday.

Lynda Bird's close friends—Merry Nell Van Fleet, 18, a freshman student from San Antonio—said the Johnsons' eldest daughter had not been appreciably changed by the swift turn of events.

"She's taking it all in stride," Miss Van Fleet said.

At least three Secret Service agents have been detailed to guard Miss Johnson. She lives with 800 other women students in a university-operated dormitory.

Danish Princess Will Wed Greek Crown Prince

LONDON (AP) — A source close to the Greek throne says Crown Prince Constantine will marry Princess Anna-Marie of Denmark in January 1965.

"I don't think the actual date has been decided upon, but it should be sometime between the first part and the middle of January," the informant said. The wedding will take place in Athens.

The engagement of the Prince, 23, and the Princess, 17, was announced last January.

Final plans will be made at this time. The ladies of Sacred Heart Circle and St. Anthony's Circle are in carge of the Christmas party.

Oswald Was Lone Assassin, Report Reveals

nightclub owner who broke through a crowd of spectators and killed the prisoner two days later, as Oswald was about to be transferred from police headquarters in the Dallas City Hall to the county jail.

The FBI report will be the basic raw material for the Warren commission, but President Johnson instructed it to evaluate "all available information" and empowered it to "conduct any further investigation it deems desirable."

This could include information in the hands of Texas authorities. The state's attorney general, Waggoner Carr, has offered full cooperation with the Warren probe.

In Dallas, Carr said Monday the state inquiry will be delayed until the FBI reports, and in any case will not start before next week.

Official sources indicate the FBI still is working on its report. The basic document is ready, but agents Monday still were tracking down belated tips, reports and rumors to make sure that no leads were overlooked.

The report has been described as a narrative in minute detail.

There was no immediate explanation of what derailed the cars.

The train was carrying 30 passengers and had made two stops, at Center Moriches and Shirley, when it derailed at about 6 a.m.

Freighters Burn In Collision Near Montreal

MONTREAL (AP)—Two saltwater freighters caught fire early today after colliding under a full moon in the St. Lawrence River off Montreal. One sailor suffered a minor arm injury.

Tugs working in the glare of searchlights plucked 28 seamen from the 4,490-ton Norwegian freighter Lionel while flames shot into the air and smoke curled over the harbor. The fire was extinguished after three hours.

The fire aboard the 9,790-ton British ship Manchester Merchant was doused in less than two hours. The ship was towed to a berth with her crew of 35 still aboard. The Lionel was anchored in midstream but the Transport Department said she would not interfere with shipping.

Khrushchev And Finn Chief Bag Bucks And Boars

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Khrushchev and his guest, President Urho Kekkoenen of Finland, each got an elk buck and a boar on a weekend hunt in a forest reserve northwest of Moscow, a Finnish Embassy attache reports.

Fire Destroys Reed City Bar

REED CITY (AP)— Damages were placed at $25,000 after a fire Monday destroyed a two-story bar and living quarters in the business district here. Fire Chief Hilding Melberg believed a faulty space heater in the upper living quarters caused the blaze at the tavern. He said damages totaling $18,000 were reported by owners of a drug store, a shoe store and the city's Masonic Temple near the fire scene.

SCD Meeting Set Wednesday

The semi-annual meeting of Soil Conservation Districts of the Upper Peninsula will be held at the Dells Supper Club starting at 10 a. m., Wednesday. About 80 persons are expected to attend.

Dan Barron of the Delta County Soil Conservation District will be chairman of the meeting at which the program feature will be an illustrated talk by Sherwood Trotter, U. S. Forest Service supervisor. Trotter's topic will be "Recreation On Your Land."

Reports on soil conservation programs, current and future in the Upper Peninsula, will be presented by Don Thurlow, Marquette, of the Extension Service, and Del Meister, Marquette, area conservationist, SCS.

Progress reports on watershed activities in the various districts will also be presented.

Secret Service Agent Cited For Bravery

Meanwhile, the House passed Monday and sent to the Senate a bill that would give her Secret Service protection for at least another year.

The measure would also authorize the payment of expenses for the late President's funeral and would give Mrs. Kennedy free mailing privileges for life.

Office and secretarial help would be provided for six months at $50,000.

Since the assassination, Mrs. Kennedy has received almost 300,000 letters and 90,000 telegrams. And "bags and bags" of mail is said still to be uncounted.

Speaking for her, presidential press secretary Pierre Salinger said Mrs. Kennedy hoped everyone would understand "how much she regrets not being able to respond to each of these messages which have meant so much to her."

Chips And Splinters

Contributions To Chips Welcomed

Joan's husband, Henry Koerner, the famed portrait artist of Pittsburgh, painted John F. Kennedy for front cover use on Time Magazine when Mr. Kennedy was a U. S. Senator from Massachusetts. He became acquainted with Mrs. Evelyn Lincoln, the President's secretary, during the 10 days of that commission for Time and when his family later asked if they could meet the President he asked Mrs. Lincoln for an appointment and she arranged one.

The President arranged for a photographer to picture the Koerners and their children, Joseph Leo and Stephanie and himself in his study and he gave them copies of the photograph.

Koerner has also painted Attorney General Robert Kennedy for Time. The pictures are in Time's art collection, parts of which are on tour, sometimes with Koerner as host.

Former Resident, George Sharkey, Taken By Death

MENOMINEE — George Sharkey, 68, of 1600 32nd Ave., Menominee, a former resident of Escanaba, died suddenly at his home about 10:30 a. m. today.

Mr. Sharkey was born Oct. 22, 1895 in Gould City. He married the former Agnes Drehmer of Escanaba in July of 1919. Following their marriage the couple moved to Lathrop where they lived until 1958. They moved to Menominee about three years ago upon Mr. Sharkey's retirement.

He was a member of the Elks Lodge. In his later years he was employed by the Atlas Plywood Co. of Gladstone.

Surviving, in addition to his wife, are three step-daughters, Mrs. Paul Schneider of Marquette, Mrs. Mike Larsh of Clarkston, Mich. and Mrs. Donald Duke of Washington, D. C.; three sisters, Mrs. George Poupard of Iron Mountain, Miss Rose Sharkey, also of Iron Mountain and Miss Flora Sharkey of Detroit; three brothers, Arthur of Wilson, Eugene of Iron Mountain and Bert of Norway; and one grandchild.

Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p. m. Thursday from the Cadieu Funeral Home in Menominee. Burial will be in Gardens of Rest Cemetery, Escanaba.

Friends may call at the funeral home after 2 p. m. Wednesday.

GLADSTONE

Santa To Arrive In City Friday

Gladstone's Christmas holiday season will officially get underway with the arrival of Santa Claus on the Soo Line Railroad Friday at 4 p. m. and he will be greeted by the town's many anxious children.

Following his arrival, Santa will be paraded down Delta Ave. where he will greet the people along the street. Candy will be given to the children meeting Santa's train.

Santa's trip to Gladstone has been arranged by the Retail Division of the Gladstone Chamber of Commerce. Dick Schoenberger is chairman with Mrs. Anita Lewis as co-chairman.

Delta Ave. has also taken on a festive appearance with the hanging of overhead Christmas garlands and colored lights. City crews completed the installation of the decorations Monday and they were first lighted last evening. Four garlands are strung across each block from 7th to 11th Street.

The only remaining decoration to be put on display is Gladstone's city Christmas tree. It usually stands at the corner of 11th and Delta Ave., across from City Hall, but plans are in the making to have the tree moved to the vacant lot on Delta Ave. between Stella's Cafe and the Ivory Drug Store. It is expected the tree will be put up within the next several days. About 450 colored lights will adorn the tree.

Now that the holiday season is underway the merchants have announced store hours for the coming weeks. Stores will be opened from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Tuesday and Fridays until Dec. 16. From Dec. 16 to the 23rd they will be opened until 9 p. m. nightly. Christmas eve they will close at 6 p. m.

Death Claims Joseph Srock

GLADSTONE

Santa To Arrive In City Friday

Gladstone's Christmas holiday season will officially get underway with the arrival of Santa Claus on the Soo Line Railroad Friday at 4 p. m. and he will be greeted by the town's many anxious children.

Following his arrival, Santa will be paraded down Delta Ave. where he will greet the people along the street. Candy will be given to the children meeting Santa's train.

Santa's trip to Gladstone has been arranged by the Retail Division of the Gladstone Chamber of Commerce. Dick Schoenberger is chairman with Mrs. Anita Lewis as co-chairman.

Delta Ave. has also taken on a festive appearance with the hanging of overhead Christmas garlands and colored lights. City crews completed the installation of the decorations Monday and they were first lighted last evening. Four garlands are strung across each block from 7th to 11th Street.

At the intersection of 9th St. large plastic lighted figures of Christmas characters have been installed.

The only remaining decoration to be put on display is Gladstone's city Christmas tree. It usually stands at the corner of 11th and Delta Ave., across from City Hall, but plans are in the making to have the tree moved to the vacant lot on Delta Ave. between Stella's Cafe and the Ivory Drug Store. It is expected the tree will be put up within the next several days. About 450 colored lights will adorn the tree.

Now that the holiday season is underway the merchants have announced store hours for the coming weeks. Stores will be opened from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. on Tuesday and Fridays until Dec. 16. From Dec. 16 to the 23rd they will be opened until 9 p. m. nightly. Christmas eve they will close at 6 p. m.

Death Claims Joseph Srock

Joseph Srock, 87, of 1308 Minnesota Ave., Gladstone, died in St. Francis Hospital at 10:05 p. m., Monday where he had been a patient the past six weeks.

Mr. Srock was born Aug. 16, 1876 in Suemme, Yugoslavia and had been a resident of Gladstone for many years.

He was a retired employe of the Northwestern Cooperage Co., and a member of All Saints Church and of Croatian Lodge 656.

Mr. Srock is survived by his wife, five daughters, Mrs. Matt (Amelia) Kukanic, Mrs. Leon (Joanne) Foster and Mrs. Tillie Cannon, all of Gladstone, Mrs. Joseph (Mary) Karlovich of Nashville, Tenn., and Mrs. William (Rose) Kramer of Chino, Calif.; four sons, Joseph of Gladstone, Theodore of Denver, Victor of Milwaukee and Stanley of St. Louis, Mo.; 22 grandchildren and 18 great-grandchildren.

The body was taken to the Skradski Funeral Home where friends may begin calling after 2 p. m., Wednesday. Liturgical prayers will be recited at 8 p. m., Wednesday.

Funeral services will be conducted from All Saints Church at 9 a. m., Thursday with Fr. Matt LaViolette officiating. Burial will be in Fernwood Cemetery.

Con Yagodzinski, former Holy Name Crusader star, came in for praise from Coach Eddie Hickey following the Marquette University varsity-freshman basketball game Saturday night in Milwaukee . . . "I was pleased with Yagodzinski's inside work," Hickey stated after the varsity defeated the frosh team 85-58 . . .Yagodzinski, a sophomore, scored seven points.

The Powers-Spalding Tigers have the best defensive record of all the area basketball teams thus far this season . . . Coach Gordy LeDuc's Tigers have allowed their opponents to score only 110 points in three games, an average of 36.7 per start . . . The Tigers have won all three outings.

★ ★ ★

Little John Bemin, a pint-sized sharpshooter, was a star at Brimley High School last season . . . Now playing for Pickford as a transfer student, Bemin led the Panthers to a 60-43 victory over his former teammates last weekend . . . He pumped in 12 field goals and three free throws for 27 points.

★ ★ ★

Two metropolitan Detroit newspapers announced their annual all-state football selections Sunday . . . The Detroit News named Dick Berlinski of Kingsford to their all-Class B backfield and compared him to such former U. P. stars as Billy Wells of Menominee and Ron Rubick of Manistique, both of whom played at Michigan State.

★ ★ ★

The Detroit Free Press placed Berlinski and end Dennis Porter of Soo on the all-class, all-state second team . . . Tom Domres, Gladstone's talented guard and fullback, made the Class B first team and end Bill Duncan of Crystal Falls and tackle Steve Burr of Norway the first team and quarterback Terry Salmi of Wakefield the second team in Class C . . . Among the Upper Peninsula players gaining the honorable mention list were tackle Dale Horchner of Escanaba and quarterback Frank Trotter of Holy Name.

★ ★ ★

Bill Koski, Champion's great scoring artist the past two seasons, tallied only one free throw in three quarters of action with the Michigan Tech freshman team in a game against the varsity last week . . . Koski received considerable praise as a ball handler and feeder, however.

★ ★ ★

Coach Vic Fochesato's Norway Vikings outscored Crystal Falls 20 to 16 in field goals but suffered a 59-51 Menominee Range Conference setback . . . The tall Trojans, coached by Stu Smith, poured in 27 of 36 free throws for their margin of victory.

★ ★ ★

Coach Jerry Erickson's Gwinn Model Towners, a tall and veteran crew that will play Holy Name here on Jan. 10, edged Bishop Baraga of Marquette 61-60 in their last start . . . Johnny Erickson led the winners with 21 points.

★ ★ ★

Ishpeming, next foe for Coach Harold Johnson's Eskymo cagers edged Munising 41-38 last weekend . . . Outscored by two field goals, the Hematites hit on 13 of 24 gift shots for their margin of victory . . . Doug Perttunen led the winners with 17 points.

★ ★ ★

Michigamme, a small Class D school with only 14 boys enrolled, came up with an 80-59 victory over Grand Marais . . . Nine players saw action for Michigamme and seven of them contributed to the scoring total, led by Jim Innerebner with 23 points.

★ ★ ★

Although Ron Rubick has finished his college football career at Michigan State, Upper Peninsula fans apparently will have a stake in future Spartan grid action . . . Four former U. P. athletes were members of this year's freshman team, rated the largest and perhaps best crew at the school in many years . . . Two are former Manistique athletes, Mike Dissinger and George Bernier . . . Dissinger is a 197 pound end and Bernier a 195 pound guard . . . The others are 255 pound tackle Terry Quarless of Iron River and 198 pound guard Bob Brawley of Sault Ste. Marie.

Marathon Draft Conducted; End Is First Choice

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Football League plodded through an all-day session Monday and deep into the morning hours Tuesday in its annual college draft.

Five clubs that remained home and conducted their business by phone or teletype messages to a representative on the floor, while the others sat on their hands. There were complaints and a threat of legislation to avoid such marathons in the future.

It took the league a record eight hours and eight minutes to work its way through the first round selections of the 14 clubs.

Several signings were announced almost simultaneously with the drafts, making it obvious that the clubs were checking the boys to be sure they were interested in playing NFL ball before wasting a turn. The teams were very much aware of the draft by the rival American Football League held Saturday in New York.

Dallas used up two hours and 39 minutes before settling on Scott Appleton, 235-pound tackle of Texas' top ranked Longhorns. Baltimore delayed about two two hours before picking Marv Woodson, an Indiana halfback, and then announced his signing later in the day.

Dave Parks, a 193-pound end from Texas Tech, was the first player drafted by the San Francisco 49ers who had first choice because they were last in the combined conference standings after Sunday's games.

Bob Brown, 269 pound guard from Nebraska's Orange Bowl-bound Cornhuskers, was taken by Philadelphia and Charley Taylor, a strong running back from Arizona State, was picked by Washington before the session ran into the Dallas log jam.

The Minnesota Vikings who lost their first three picks to the AFL last year, quickly signed their No. 1 and No. 2 selections, tackle Carl Eller of Minnesota and end Hal Bedsole of Southern California.

Other early signers announced were Woodson by Baltimore, tackle Dick Evey of Tennessee by the Chicago Bears, tackle Herchel Turner of Kentucky by St. Louis and quarterback Munson by the Rams.

Packers Pick Len St. Jean

CHICAGO (AP)—A number of football players at Michigan colleges were tabbed as draft choices by National Football League teams Monday and today.

Ed Lothamer, Michigan State tackle, was picked by Baltimore. Herman Johnson, Michigan back, was selected by Los Angeles. San Francisco tabbed Hillsdale guard Howard Mudd.

Green Bay picked Northern Michigan tackle Jack Mauro. John Houtman, Michigan tackle, was chosen by Cleveland, and Roger Lopes, Michigan State back, by Baltimore.

Fabulous Passer Heads Little All-America Team

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — George Bork, Northern Illinois' fantastic passer, and 10 other seniors make up the Associated Press Little All-America football team for 1963.

Bork, the human howitzer who rewrote the record book with his tosses, is the only repeater from a year ago. The 1963 all-star aggregation is one of the few during the 30-year history of the Little All-America to be made up entirely of seniors.

Bracketed in the backfield with Bork are Mike Brown, wheel-horse of Delaware's unbeaten team; Sid Banks of Texas A&I, and Martin Luther Agnew, the 198-pound avalanche from Sewanee who soon will enter the ministry.

In front of them is the biggest and most agile line in the history of the Little All-America, restricted to teams whose competition is defined as minor or at the college level by the NCAA as contrasted with the university level where such headline hunters as Alabama, Texas, and Washington prowl.

The big line boasts two sky-scraping ends in Bob Cherry of Wittenberg and Jerry Cole of Southwest Texas. They are supported by Paul Graham of Massachusetts and Neil Reuter of North Dakota, rated the best lineman in the North Central Conference, at tackles; Ralph Bauman of Puget Sound and Greg Van Orden of Appalachian at the guards with Dick Dean of Depauw at center. Dean is rated the best center in Indiana, despite such nearby major teams at Notre Dame, Indiana and Purdue.

The players on the forward wall average 6-1, weigh 208 pounds to the man and are just over 21 years of age. Cherry is the team's tallest at just a fraction over 6-4 and also the lightest at 187 pounds. Graham, whose Massachusetts team tied Harvard and beat all the remainder of its opponents, is the heaviest at 234 while Bauman is the shortest at 5-10.

The backfield also averages 6-1 and 21 years of age but displaces only 192 pounds on the average.

Bork completed his collegiate career holding 14 national passing records and responsible for two team marks. During Northern Illinois' nine straight victories during the regular season he completed 244 of 374 aerial attempts for 32 touchdowns and 3,077 yards, an average of 341.9 yards a game. All are records.

During his career he threw 902 times and hit his target on 577 of those occasions. These also are records.

If the Little All-America could be put on the field, one of Bork's prime targets likely would be Cherry, who grabbed 45 pitches for 886 yards and 13 touchdowns at Wittenberg.

Brown averaged 6.3 yards each time he carried the ball for Delaware and finished the season with a spectacular 104.8 rushing yards a game average. Banks made the A—I attack click with his running and pass catching as a flanker while Agnew shepherded Sewanee through an unbeaten season by being the team's offensive leader for the third straight year.

First Team

Center: Richard Dean, Depauw.

Second Team

Center: Orville Hudson, East Texas State.

Honorable Mention
NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Rademacher of Northern Michigan's football team received honorable mention today in selection of the Little All-America football squad.

Tie Games Set New Record In Pro Grid Loop

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the pro football wash - and don't forget the ties.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, who haven't won since Nov. 10, have remained in contention for the National Football League's Eastern Conference title with two consecutives ties—and three in all—the most by one club since Brooklyn in 1938.

If the Steelers go on to win the Eastern crown, it will be their first in the 30 years since the NFL instituted a two-division set-up. Pittsburgh came close in 1947, but lost a playoff to Philadelphia 21-0.

Quote of the Week: Honors go to Roosevelt Taylor, the Chicago Bears' speedy defensive back who recovered the fumble that led to the tying touchdown against Minnesota Sunday. Asked his No. 1 theory on cutting down enemy runners, Taylor said:

In all there were three ties on the NFL program, with Detroit and Green Bay tying Thanksgiving Day . . . Even more unusual were the two shutouts posted on the American League's four-game program . . . The New York Jets handed the defending league champion Kansas City Chiefs their first in 54 games running through four seasons and one championship game . . . San Diego, meanwhile, handed Houston its first shutout in 45 games . . .

While the big question in the NFL has been who's going to win what, the big question in the AFL has been why can't Kansas City win? The Chiefs, defending league champions, are bogged down at 2-7-2.

Jack Faulkner, Denver coach whipped by the Chiefs 59-7 in the season opener, watched Kansas City against the Jets Sunday and offered this reason for their flip-flop:

"So many Texas boys on the club having to pull up roots to move to Kansas City came as quite a shock," he said, "but the worst shock of all was the death of Stone Johnson. That has affected the club more deeply than anyone can imagine."

His death came two days after the season started two days after Kansas City showed its ability against Faulkner's Denver team.

Ramblers Ragged But Impressive In Cage Opener

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

But when a team looks ragged throughout and still rips its opponent by a margin of 38 points that's both unusual and disturbing.

With four starters returning from the team that upset Cincinnati in the NCAA final and compiled a 29-2 record last season, the Ramblers romped over North Dakota 92-54 and, according to the game report "looked ragged throughout."

The other ranked teams in action also came through on schedule with only a couple of upsets spoiling things for the form players. Probably the foremost among those was the 66-53 surprise Davidson popped on Wake Forest and State College of Iowa's 58-54 edge over Iowa State.

Otherwise, the favorites had things pretty much their own way. Fifth-ranked Wichita beat Colorado 71-61, No. 7 Ohio State pulled out a tough 74-68 decision over Butler, No. 8 Michigan romped 73-47 against Tulane, No. 9 Kentucky ran up its highest total in four years in a 107-91 crushing of Texas Tech and No. 10 Oregon State ripped Washington State 80-66 in a game that had been postponed from the weekend. Big seven-foot Mel Counts tossed in 38 points for the Bears.

In some of the other major games, Big Ten hopeful Iowa crushed South Dakota 85-66, Southwest Conference defending champ Texas whipped Howard Payne 89-58, Southeastern contender Vanderbilt clubbed Rice 82-68 and SEC defending champ Mississippi State overwhelmed Louisiana Tech 105-61.

Independents Win Opener

Monday Results
Tom's Signs 66, Al's Bar 46
Merchants 46, Flat Rock 44
Independents 62, Jaycees 33

J. C. Miller pumped in 24 points to lead the Independents to a 62-33 victory over the Jaycees in City League basketball action Monday night.

Roger Beauchamp chipped in 14 points for the Independents while Bill Kissner and Ray Hockstead hit eight each for the losers.

John Berrigan tallied 22 points and Mike Heminger 11 as the Merchants downed Flat Rock 56-44. Bill Smith and Dick Libel had 11 each for Flat Rock.

Tom's Signs defeated Al's Bar 66-46 with Ron Thompson scoring 23 and Terry McDonough 12 for the winners. Gary Boudreau scored 14 and Phil D'Ambrosio 10 for the losers.

Longhorns Keep No. 1 Grid Spot

By The Associated Press

Texas had a much easier time of it in The Associated Press poll than it had on the field against Texas A&M in its finale.

The squeaker preserved a 10-0 season, and the No. 1 spot in the next to last Associated Press poll of the season. The final vote will be taken next week, with the national championship to the winner.

The Texas poll margin was convincing enough to make it unlikely that even a great performance by No. 2 Navy against Army on Saturday will dislodge the Longhorns. Navy has an 8-1 record.

Texas drew 42 first-place votes from the 51 sports writers and broadcasters on the special AP panel. Navy got eight and Pitt the other one.

On the usual 10-9-8-etc. voting basis, Texas had 485 points to Navy's 432.

Below the top two, the personnel was the same but the rankings were shuffled.

Illinois jumped from eighth to third with 356 points, on its 13-0 defeat of Michigan State for the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl assignment.

Pitt, 31-20 winner over Miami, moved up a notch to fourth. Auburn, 10-8 victor over Alabama, jumped from ninth to fifth. Big Eight champion Nebraska went from seventh to No. 6.

Oklahoma climbed from 10th to No. 8, after beating Oklahoma State 34-10.

Alabama fell from sixth to No. 9, and Michigan State from fourth to No. 10.

Northern Nipped By Duluth Quint

By The Associated Press

Two of Michigan's major colleges successfully opened their home basketball seasons Monday night, but a few of the state's smaller schools found it rough going — especially with out-of-state competition.

Michigan had four men in double figures as it dumped Tulane 73-74 for its second straight victory of the young season. Bill Buntin paced the victors with 20 points and also pulled down 15 rebounds.

Detroit, behind 42-41 at the half, roared back with a 54-point second half and clubbed the University of Windsor (formerly Assumption 95-79. Dick Dzik led Detroit with 23 points, but Al Cech and Dorie Murrey were the big guns in the drive as they combined for 19 points. It was the season opener for Detroit.

Youngstown trounced Hillsdale 89-47; Minnesota-Duluth edged Northern Michigan 89-88; Alma defeated Lawrence Tech 97 - 63; Eastern Michigan whipped Albion 74-61 and Valparaiso downed Hope 98-74, in the other games.

Jim Timmerman scored 20 points and Fred Jones 18 in Youngstown's victory over Hillsdale. The Penguins took a 9-0 lead and had a 45-27 edge at the half as they went on for their second victory in two games. Hillsdale, winless in three starts, was led by Charlie Works with 19 points.

Bill Pendell scored 26 points, and teammate Bud Acton added 22, to spark Alma's season opening victory over Lawrence Tech. Gary Wnuk scored 25 points for the losers, now 0-2.

Eastern Michigan needed a second half rally to down Albion in the opening game for both clubs. Eastern was down, 31-29 at the half, but jumped into a 10-point lead early in the second half and breezed in. Ed Gallup paced the winners with 19 points, while Bruce Brown's 16 was Albion's best single effort.

Hope College permanently fell behind at the start as Valparaiso's Denny Olson led in points with 21. C. Van Wieren topped Hope with 17 points. The game was played in Indiana.

Tigers Seek Harvey Kuenn

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers picked up power-hitting catcher John Burrows in the minor league draft Monday and tried to set up a trade to bring back Harvey Kuenn.

Kuenn, a top - flight Tiger shortstop and outfielder for eight years, was traded to Cleveland in 1960 for Rocky Colavito. He now plays for the San Francisco Giants.

Kuenn, 32, hit .290 in limited action with the Giants last season.

Burrows, 19, originally was signed by the Baltimore Orioles. He played last summer at Bluefield, W. Va., and hit .267 in 22 games. Of his 20 hits, four were homers and four were doubles.

The Tigers paid $8,000 for Burrows.

Marathon Draft Conducted; End Is First Choice

CHICAGO (AP)—The National Football League plodded through an all-day session Monday and deep into the morning hours Tuesday in its annual college draft.

Five clubs that remained home and conducted their business by phone or teletype messages to a representative on the floor, while the others sat on their hands. There were complaints and a threat of legislation to avoid such marathons in the future.

It took the league a record eight hours and eight minutes to work its way through the first round selections of the 14 clubs.

Several signings were announced almost simultaneously with the drafts, making it obvious that the clubs were checking the boys to be sure they were interested in playing NFL ball before wasting a turn. The teams were very much aware of the draft by the rival American Football League held Saturday in New York.

Dallas used up two hours and 39 minutes before settling on Scott Appleton, 235-pound tackle of Texas' top ranked Longhorns. Baltimore delayed about two two hours before picking Marv Woodson, an Indiana halfback, and then announced his signing later in the day.

Dave Parks, a 193-pound end from Texas Tech, was the first player drafted by the San Francisco 49ers who had first choice because they were last in the combined conference standings after Sunday's games.

Bob Brown, 269 pound guard from Nebraska's Orange Bowl-bound Cornhuskers, was taken by Philadelphia and Charley Taylor, a strong running back from Arizona State, was picked by Washington before the session ran into the Dallas log jam.

The Minnesota Vikings who lost their first three picks to the AFL last year, quickly signed their No. 1 and No. 2 selections, tackle Carl Eller of Minnesota and end Hal Bedsole of Southern California.

Other early signers announced were Woodson by Baltimore, tackle Dick Evey of Tennessee by the Chicago Bears, tackle Herchel Turner of Kentucky by St. Louis and quarterback Munson by the Rams.

Packers Pick Len St. Jean

CHICAGO (AP)—A number of football players at Michigan colleges were tabbed as draft choices by National Football League teams Monday and today.

Ed Lothamer, Michigan State tackle, was picked by Baltimore. Herman Johnson, Michigan back, was selected by Los Angeles. San Francisco tabbed Hillsdale guard Howard Mudd.

Green Bay picked Northern Michigan tackle Jack Mauro. John Houtman, Michigan tackle, was chosen by Cleveland, and Roger Lopes, Michigan State back, by Baltimore.

Fabulous Passer Heads Little All-America Team

By HAROLD CLAASSEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — George Bork, Northern Illinois' fantastic passer, and 10 other seniors make up the Associated Press Little All-America football team for 1963.

Bork, the human howitzer who rewrote the record book with his tosses, is the only repeater from a year ago. The 1963 all-star aggregation is one of the few during the 30-year history of the Little All-America to be made up entirely of seniors.

Bracketed in the backfield with Bork are Mike Brown, wheel-horse of Delaware's unbeaten team; Sid Banks of Texas A&I, and Martin Luther Agnew, the 198-pound avalanche from Sewanee who soon will enter the ministry.

In front of them is the biggest and most agile line in the history of the Little All-America, restricted to teams whose competition is defined as minor or at the college level by the NCAA as contrasted with the university level where such headline hunters as Alabama, Texas, and Washington prowl.

It is the colleges' schedules that are minor, not their athletes.

The big line boasts two skyscraping ends in Bob Cherry of Wittenberg and Jerry Cole of Southwest Texas. They are supported by Paul Graham of Massachusetts and Neil Reuter of North Dakota, rated the best lineman in the North Central Conference, at tackles; Ralph Bauman of Puget Sound and Greg Van Orden of Appalachian at the guards with Dick Dean of Depauw at center. Dean is rated the best center in Indiana, despite such nearby major teams at Notre Dame, Indiana and Purdue.

The players on the forward wall average 6-1, weigh 208 pounds to the man and are just over 21 years of age. Cherry is the team's tallest at just a fraction over 6-4 and also the lightest at 187 pounds. Graham, whose Massachusetts team tied Harvard and beat all the remainder of its opponents, is the heaviest at 234 while Bauman is the shortest at 5-10.

The backfield also averages 6-1 and 21 years of age but displaces only 192 pounds on the average.

Bork completed his collegiate career holding 14 national passing records and responsible for two team marks. During Northern Illinois' nine straight victories during the regular season he completed 244 of 374 aerial attempts for 32 touchdowns and 3,077 yards, an average of 341.9 yards a game. All are records.

During his career he threw 902 times and hit his target on 577 of those occasions. These also are records.

If the Little All-America could be put on the field, one of Bork's prime targets likely would be Cherry, who grabbed 45 pitches for 886 yards and 13 touchdowns at Wittenberg.

Brown averaged 6.3 yards each time he carried the ball for Delaware and finished the season with a spectacular 104.8 rushing yards a game average. Banks made the A—I attack click with his running and pass catching as a flanker while Agnew shepherded Sewanee through an unbeaten season by being the team's offensive leader for the third straight year.

First Team

Center: Richard Dean, Depauw.

Second Team

Center: Orville Hudson, East Texas State.

Honorable Mention

NEW YORK (AP) — Bill Rademacher of Northern Michigan's football team received honorable mention today in selection of the Little All-America football squad.

Tie Games Set New Record In Pro Grid Loop

By MIKE RATHET

NEW YORK (AP) — Hanging out the pro football wash - and don't forget the ties.

The Pittsburgh Steelers, who haven't won since Nov. 10, have remained in contention for the National Football League's Eastern Conference title with two consecutives ties—and three in all—the most by one club since Brooklyn in 1938.

If the Steelers go on to win the Eastern crown, it will be their first in the 30 years since the NFL instituted a two-division set-up. Pittsburgh came close in 1947, but lost a playoff to Philadelphia 21-0.

Quote of the Week: Honors go to Roosevelt Taylor, the Chicago Bears' speedy defensive back who recovered the fumble that led to the tying touchdown against Minnesota Sunday. Asked his No. 1 theory on cutting down enemy runners, Taylor said:

In all there were three ties on the NFL program, with Detroit and Green Bay tying Thanksgiving Day . . . Even more unusual were the two shutouts posted on the American League's four-game program . . . The New York Jets handed the defending league champion Kansas City Chiefs their first in 54 games running through four seasons and one championship game . . . San Diego, meanwhile, handed Houston its first shutout in 45 games . . .

While the big question in the NFL has been who's going to win what, the big question in the AFL has been why can't Kansas City win? The Chiefs, defending league champions, are bogged down at 2-7-2.

Jack Faulkner, Denver coach whipped by the Chiefs 59-7 in the season opener, watched Kansas City against the Jets Sunday and offered this reason for their flip-flop:

"This is not the same ball club. They must have shipped 'em all overseas somewhere."

One of the players, who asked to go unnamed, had a fuller explanation.

"So many Texas boys on the club having to pull up roots to move to Kansas City came as quite a shock," he said, "but the worst shock of all was the death of Stone Johnson. That has affected the club more deeply than anyone can imagine."

His death came two days after the season started two days after Kansas City showed its ability against Faulkner's Denver team.

Ramblers Ragged But Impressive In Cage Opener

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

It's not particularly unusual or disturbing when a college basketball team looks a little on the ragged side in its season opener.

But when a team looks ragged throughout and still rips its opponent by a margin of 38 points that's both unusual and disturbing.

With four starters returning from the team that upset Cincinnati in the NCAA final and compiled a 29-2 record last season, the Ramblers romped over North Dakota 92-54 and, according to the game report "looked ragged throughout."

The Ramblers, ranked at the top of The Associated Press' pre-season poll, simply overwhelmed the visitors in the feature game on a heavy program.

The other ranked teams in action also came through on schedule with only a couple of upsets spoiling things for the form players. Probably the foremost among those was the 66-53 surprise Davidson popped on Wake Forest and State College of Iowa's 58-54 edge over Iowa State.

Otherwise, the favorites had things pretty much their own way. Fifth-ranked Wichita beat Colorado 71-61, No. 7 Ohio State pulled out a tough 74-68 decision over Butler, No. 8 Michigan romped 73-47 against Tulane, No. 9 Kentucky ran up its highest total in four years in a 107-91 crushing of Texas Tech and No. 10 Oregon State ripped Washington State 80-66 in a game that had been postponed from the weekend. Big seven-foot Mel Counts tossed in 38 points for the Bears.

In some of the other major games, Big Ten hopeful Iowa crushed South Dakota 85-66, Southwest Conference defending champ Texas whipped Howard Payne 89-58, Southeastern contender Vanderbilt clubbed Rice 82-68 and SEC defending champ Mississippi State overwhelmed Louisiana Tech 105-61.

Independents Win Opener

Monday Results
Tom's Signs 66, Al's Bar 46
Merchants 46, Flat Rock 44
Independents 62, Jaycees 33

J. C. Miller pumped in 24 points to lead the Independents to a 62-33 victory over the Jaycees in City League basketball action Monday night.

Roger Beauchamp chipped in 14 points for the Independents while Bill Kissner and Ray Hockstead hit eight each for the losers.

John Berrigan tallied 22 points and Mike Heminger 11 as the Merchants downed Flat Rock 56-44. Bill Smith and Dick Libel had 11 each for Flat Rock.

Tom's Signs defeated Al's Bar 66-46 with Ron Thompson scoring 23 and Terry McDonough 12 for the winners. Gary Boudreau scored 14 and Phil D'Ambrosio 10 for the losers.

Longhorns Keep No. 1 Grid Spot

By The Associated Press

Texas had a much easier time of it in The Associated Press poll than it had on the field against Texas A&M in its finale.

The squeaker preserved a 10-0 season, and the No. 1 spot in the next to last Associated Press poll of the season. The final vote will be taken next week, with the national championship to the winner.

The Texas poll margin was convincing enough to make it unlikely that even a great performance by No. 2 Navy against Army on Saturday will dislodge the Longhorns. Navy has an 8-1 record.

Texas drew 42 first-place votes from the 51 sports writers and broadcasters on the special AP panel. Navy got eight and Pitt the other one.

On the usual 10-9-8-etc. voting basis, Texas had 485 points to Navy's 432.

Below the top two, the personnel was the same but the rankings were shuffled.

Illinois jumped from eighth to third with 356 points, on its 13-0 defeat of Michigan State for the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl assignment.

Pitt, 31-20 winner over Miami, moved up a notch to fourth. Auburn, 10-8 victor over Alabama, jumped from ninth to fifth. Big Eight champion Nebraska went from seventh to No. 6.

Mississippi dropped from third to No. 7 after a 10-10 tie with Mississippi State.

Oklahoma climbed from 10th to No. 8, after beating Oklahoma State 34-10.

Alabama fell from sixth to No. 9, and Michigan State from fourth to No. 10.

Northern Nipped By Duluth Quint

By The Associated Press

Two of Michigan's major colleges successfully opened their home basketball seasons Monday night, but a few of the state's smaller schools found it rough going — especially with out-of-state competition.

Michigan had four men in double figures as it dumped Tulane 73-74 for its second straight victory of the young season. Bill Buntin paced the victors with 20 points and also pulled down 15 rebounds.

Detroit, behind 42-41 at the half, roared back with a 54-point second half and clubbed the University of Windsor (formerly Assumption 95-79. Dick Dzik led Detroit with 23 points, but Al Cech and Dorie Murrey were the big guns in the drive as they combined for 19 points. It was the season opener for Detroit.

Youngstown trounced Hillsdale 89-47; Minnesota-Duluth edged Northern Michigan 89-88; Alma defeated Lawrence Tech 97 - 63; Eastern Michigan whipped Albion 74-61 and Valparaiso downed Hope 98-74, in the other games.

Jim Timmerman scored 20 points and Fred Jones 18 in Youngstown's victory over Hillsdale. The Penguins took a 9-0 lead and had a 45-27 edge at the half as they went on for their second victory in two games. Hillsdale, winless in three starts, was led by Charlie Works with 19 points.

Bill Pendell scored 26 points, and teammate Bud Acton added 22, to spark Alma's season opening victory over Lawrence Tech. Gary Wnuk scored 25 points for the losers, now 0-2.

Eastern Michigan needed a second half rally to down Albion in the opening game for both clubs. Eastern was down, 31-29 at the half, but jumped into a 10-point lead early in the second half and breezed in. Ed Gallup paced the winners with 19 points, while Bruce Brown's 16 was Albion's best single effort.

Hope College permanently fell behind at the start as Valparaiso's Denny Olson led in points with 21. C. Van Wieren topped Hope with 17 points. The game was played in Indiana.

Tigers Seek Harvey Kuenn

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP)—The Detroit Tigers picked up power-hitting catcher John Burrows in the minor league draft Monday and tried to set up a trade to bring back Harvey Kuenn.

Kuenn, a top - flight Tiger shortstop and outfielder for eight years, was traded to Cleveland in 1960 for Rocky Colavito. He now plays for the San Francisco Giants.

Kuenn, 32, hit .290 in limited action with the Giants last season.

Burrows, 19, originally was signed by the Baltimore Orioles. He played last summer at Bluefield, W. Va., and hit .267 in 22 games. Of his 20 hits, four were homers and four were doubles.

The Tigers paid $8,000 for Burrows.

THE DEPENDABLES: SUCCESS CARS OF '64

We've got a sporty proposition for you

Dodge

If you're after a little more action than you've been accustomed to getting in the low-price field, look what we've got for you. The '64 Dodge Polara 2-door hardtop, a quick moving automobile that doesn't look, ride, or feel like any low-priced car you've ever tried before.

Luxury is standard equipment on this one. The interior, for instance, is all-vinyl. The front seat has extra deep foam padding and features a comfort-providing flip-down center armrest at no extra cost. The floor is completely carpeted. And under the hood? A standard V8 (318 cu. in.) with more muscle than is common in other low-price cars.

Price? Right with cars like Ford and Chevy. Here's our proposition—why buy just any low-priced car, when you can step up to Dodge and a lot more automobile. Are people taking us up on it? Dodge's sales increase is more than four times that of the industry. People know a good thing when they see it. See it at your Dodge Dealers.

Network Loss 25.6 Million

WASHINGTON (AP)—In the news from Washington:

COVERAGE COSTS: Broadcasting Magazine estimated Sunday that the four - day ommission of commercials while reporting on events relating to the assassination of President Kennedy cost the radio and television networks $25.6 million.

The networks spent an additional $3.1 million in providing coverage, the industry magazine said.

"No government official had to tell the broadcasters what to do," the magazine said. "In a time when the trend of federal regulation has been running toward tighter editorial control, broadcasters made their own best case for editorial freedom."

FOREIGN AID: Sen. Gale McGee, D-Wyo, says tightened administration is needed to prevent waste and overstaffing in the foreign aid program, which he calls "a bulwark in the turning back of the Communist offensive."

McGee reported Sunday to the Senate Appropriations Committee on a special investigation he made last spring into the administration of the foreign aid program by the Agency for International Development.

Under administrator David Bell, Sen. McGee said, the agency is making "a remarkable effort to correct shortcomings and already has put into effect many of the recommendations contained in this report."

NEW MARK: For the 12th consecutive year, the number of students enrolled in colleges and universities and working for degrees is at a record high, the U.S. Office of Education announced today.

The total this fall was 4,529,000—7.7 per cent higher than the 4,207,000 enrolled in the fall of 1962 and more than double the 2,116,000 enrolled in the fall of 1951.

Santa and the Haunted House

By LUCRECE BEALE

CHAPTER ONE

Once upon a time, in the Kingdom of Poo, there lived three little children named Jeremy, Sissy and Miss Jo.

Jeremy was the most grown up. He was 6. Miss Jo was the baby. She was 4. And Sissy was 5 and inbetween.

One day, shortly before Christmas, the children were playing alone in their house on Round Hill Road. Their father and mother were away. They were lamp makers and they had gone to a nearby kingdom to sell their wares. They left the children in Jeremy's charge for he was a responsible boy and nearly always knew the right thing to do.

After the parents had gone, Jeremy and the girls played games. They played hide and seek. Sardines. Flinging statues. Follow the leader. Simon says. And so on. They played all the games Jeremy could think of until finally he ran out of ideas.

Then Sissy said, "Now we'll play house. I'll be the mother and you be the father and Miss Jo can be the baby."

"I want to be the mother," said Miss Jo.

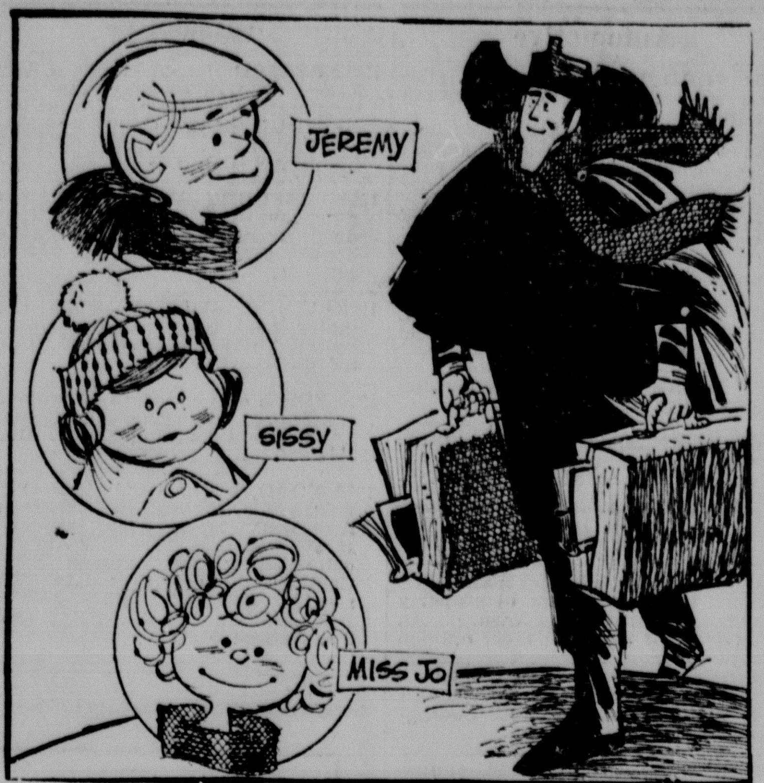
"Jeremy can be the baby."

Jeremy turned white. "I won't," he declared. He was prepared to do almost anything to entertain his sisters but this was clearly something he could not do.



"I AM NOT only a bookseller. I am a storyteller as well."

"But—"began Sissy.

"Never," said Jeremy firmly.

"I'm going to be the mother," repeated Miss Jo calmly.

"No—me!" Sissy stamped her foot.

Now both Sissy and Miss Jo burst into tears and poor Jeremy did not know what to do to restore peace in the family. His head whirled with the responsibility of it all.

At this point there was a knock at the front door. Happy to have a distraction Jeremy rushed to open the door.

There was a man standing there, tall and thin, his shoulders dragged down by two large suitcases he carried in his hands. He had soft gray eyes and bushy eyebrows and a sort of sad smiling mouth. He seemed very tired.

The suitcases he carried were filled with books. The cases were broken. The seams were splitting and books were popping out everywhere.

"I am a bookseller," said the man. "Would your parents like to buy some books?"

"My parents are away," said Jeremy politely.

"Oh." The man turned wearily away. "Well, then. I'll be on my way."

The man turned back and nodded. "Wonderful stories," he said, his eyes shining. "Stories about everything in the world."

"I like stories," whispered Sissy. She poked her head under Jeremy's arm and stared longingly at the cases filled with books.

"I wish I had a story," said Miss Jo. She dropped down and peered between Jeremy's knees.

The man smiled — a happy smile now. "Tell you what," he said. "Let me sit down and rest a bit and you shall have a story."

"But you see," said Jeremy, very businesslike, "we have no money. We can't buy a story."

"No need," said the man. "I am a story-teller as well. And the story I tell you will be free."

The children shouted with pleasure. They pulled the Storyteller into the house and sat him down before the fire. They pushed his old broken suitcases to the side and sat down at his feet.

"No, no," said Sissy, shaking her golden curls. "About a beautiful Queen and a handsome Prince. About good children. Parties. Travels in the sky and all that!"

Miss Jo waved her hand. "I want a story about Santa Claus," said she.

The Storyteller nodded solemnly at all he heard. He stretched out his legs and closed his eyes. "Very well," he murmured. "The story shall be about all these things."

"A true story!" interrupted Jeremy. Sissy and Miss Jo chimed in, "Yes, yes, a true story!"
